Suburban Dog Owners Plan Obedience Show Sunday

PANDA IS CONFIDENT that she could win all the trophies at the huge dog show to be held Sunday at Prospect high field house. But alas! She cannot enter because she has no pedigree. Named for her resemblance to the late Brookfield zoo bear, Panda recalls that her mother was a wire-haired terrier and her father a ne'er do well. She is the pet dog of the Frank Harris family of Plum Grove Estates.

The field house of Prospect high school, Foundry rd., Arlington Heights, will literally "go to the dogs" Sunday, Aug. 31, when one of the largest obedience shows ever held in the United States will take place from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

SPONSORED BY the Northwest Obedience Club., Inc. of Suburban Chicago, the show will feature six rings in operation simultaneously.

Pure bred dogs of all sizes and descriptions will be among the entries in the huge show to which the public is invited. Children will be admitted at half price and plate dinners as well as barbecues wil lbe available throughout the day in the cafeteria of the new school.

PARTICIPATING in the obedience trials and tracking test will be dogs from Chicago, its suburbs, downstate and nearby states with some entries coming from as far as Minnesota.

Novice trials for dogs working on their first degree, and open and utility trials for the more advanced dogs will continue all day until all dogs have been judged. Nearly 100 ribbons, awards and trophies will then be awarded to owners of highest scoring dogs in the various classes and among the various breeds.

Tracking tests for dogs seeking to qualify in tracing lost items, lost children and escaped criminals, will be held in Palatine on the grounds of the Jsutin Fleischmann home and surrounding properties.

Parochial, Public Schools Prepared

Doors Open For 6,630 Children

The long Labor Day weekend will find hundreds of Arlington Heights families out of town on summer's final fling at the lake cottage or visiting relatives in small towns across the Midwest.

But other hundreds of families will cut short their holiday to return home Sunday or spend the entire weekend in town. They will be getting the children ready for the start of school Tuesday and Wednesday.

ARLINGTON Heights elementary schools, both parochial and public, will generally be in better shape for the arrival of ther 6,630 patrons than at any time since the postwar avalanche of children into the schools.

According to pre-opening enrollment estimates, which are on the conservative side, there will be an increase of about eight per cent in the total number of elementary pupils in all schools, over the figure of one year ago. When compared with the number of pupils at the end of the last school year, the increase would be much lower, however.

The largest gain will be in the schools of village district 25, with roughly 10 per cent more children carrying books this year. However, the double session — which once seemed to be a semi-permanent fixture of the suburban school system — has been discontinued in Arlington Heights. The opening of 11 additional classrooms this fall makes them no longer necessary.

WILSON SCHOOL, which draws most of its pupils from within village limits, will have problems of overcrowding this year because of the influx of new families into Hasbrook subdivision but another small school district to the south of the village, Forest View, can easily handle a tiny jump in enrollment.

Parochial schools, with their classrooms holding an average of about 50 pupils compared with about 30 in most public schools, are trying to reduce the load. Our Lady of the Wayside took steps to trim some classes from 70 students to 50 while St. James Catholic school kept the average size down to 50 only by putting four new classrooms in its basement. St. Peter Lutheran school is strictly limiting enrollment until it can provide more facilities, within a year it hopes.

Arlington Heights parents could thank their school administrators (and themselves for their support at the ballot box) for the healthy state of their school system.

THREE Arlington Heights youngsters who apparently are so anxious to return to school that they showed up at Ridge school this week to help their teachers prepare for Tuesday are (from left) David Huntley, 11, of 421 N. Wilshire, Bill Wilmotte, 11, of 729 N. Fernandez, and Mary Busse, 10, of 712 N. Kaspar. The teacher is Mrs. Patricia Quast, who has a combined class of fourth and fifth graders.

DID YOU KNOW—

50 years ago a bell in the belfry or a hand bell in the rural districts called the school sessions.

50 years ago Sam Lipofsky, Palatine merchant, advertised ladies gauze shirts for 8 cents. (None of our feminine staff ever heard of such a garment saying, today it is now all one garment).

50 Years Ago — Commercial course added to Palatine high school.

50 Years Ago — Fish inhabited Salt Creek.

40 Years Ago — Arlington Military Band gave outdoor concerts every Tuesday evening in band shell on site of present village hall.

30 Years Ago — The fire whistle was used to call police to the station.

20 Years Ago — Arlington Heights North School was dedicated and since then there have been eight new building programs.

We never saw at one time so many low license numbers as displayed at the toll road ceremonies August 20. But it was understandable when a roll call at the dedication dinner revealed that almost all the high-ranking state officers were present.

One exception to the low numbers was the car in which Gov. Stratton was riding. His convertible was conspicuous with a seven-figure plate. A check with vehicle registrations showed ownership by a Loop employment firm.

Is it just that the governor doesn't own a white convertible, or is he out job hunting?

Word of alleged forgeries in a nominating petition will come as a shock to voters in the 3rd senatorial district.

Regardless of hard fought primary and election battles, violation of the sacredness of the ballot is a serious matter.

We wonder if such an occurrence has become common practice? If so, the newspaper publicity and possible prosecution will be enough to discourage any future repetitions for many years to come.

No longer will this paper publish corrections of news stories that were correctly reported in a previous issue. We endeavor to give honest reporting. "Buck passing" is out.

"Large" community problems today are really insignificant compared with the importance of the opening of school next week.

Municipal administrations are wrestling with sidewalk, street widening, highway routing and zoning problems. The public probably gives little thought about the training of the younger generation for their job when they take over where we will leave off.

Our schools have a tremendous responsibility to give the young people of today the brain power needed to be the adults of tomorrow.

With the approval of bond issue after bond issue, our communities are providing needed finances for the schools.

The press is continually reporting breakdowns in family living, where the father and mother give first thought to their own entertainment and pay little heed to what their children are doing in their spare hours.

It is not always that way as we discovered the other evening when we were calling at a friend's home about the time of children's bedtime.

When each of the children successively snuggled down upon their father's lap and audibly said their prayers, we knew that here was one home where the parents will have no worries about their offspring.

Parochial Schools Expect 2,700 Pupils

Arlington Heights' three parochial elementary schools will open for 2,700 pupils from the village and surrounding communities next week.

Enrollment-wise, the three schools, St. Peter Lutheran and Our Lady of the Wayside and St. James Catholic schools, each present a different picture.

ST. PETER school expects about the same number of students it had last year, 450, or perhaps a few less. "The school has been filled to capacity for several years now and we've had to turn pupils away," commented Principal Adolph W. Obermann.

Our Lady of the Wayside school, on the other hand, will have a lower enrollment because of the wish of the parish pastor, Rev. Harold O'Hara, to reduce the number of students per classroom.

"Last year there were 1,060 pupils in our 18 classrooms, with some of the rooms having 70 pupils," he said. "This year we have had to turn away more than 200 pupils from Rolling Meadows who formerly attended our school. We are trying to get down to an average of 50 students a room and will average about that figure except for an eighth grade of 62 students."

THE PRIEST said final enrollment will be between 950 and 1,000 pupils, with seventh and eighth graders and their brothers and sisters allowed to remain at the school. While the school will not have so many Rolling Meadows students, it will have many more children from Elk Grove than in prior years.

Both Elk Grove Village and Hatlen Heights are within parish limits.

St. James school has about completed converting basement space into four new classrooms to accommodate an additional 200 youngsters. This will bring the total to 1,300 pupils and the number of rooms to 26. A few children from Prospect Heights will still attend the school although a Catholic school will open there next week.

St. Peter school will commence its 94th year with a worship service at 9 a.m. Tuesday to which friends and parents are invited. The two Catholic schools will give their charges an extra day of play after the long weekend and open Wednesday.

ST. JAMES pupils will show up for an hour Wednesday and for half days on Thursday and Friday and the Wayside school will start with a half day Wednesday.

Father O'Hara said he has not yet determined whether tuition fees of last year — $5 per month per family in the parish limits — will be sufficient to cover expenses. Rev. John Lane, assistant pastor of St. James, said his school's fees will remain at the $5 per family figure.

Wilson School Expects 'Worst'

Anxious officials of Wilson school are watching the front door as the opening day of school nears.

Since families began to move into a large new subdivision in the school district last year, officials have predicted that the 1958-59 school year would be "the worst" in terms of crowded classrooms. The subdivision is the Hasbrook area at the north end of Arlington Heights.

With preliminary enrollment figures this week indicating an enrollment increase of at least 20 per cent, the fears of the school board are being borne out. Already the enrollment in the district's eight grades has soared from 280 last June to 330.

WITH FAMILIES moving in by two's and three's daily, the opening-day total could easily go to 350 pupils by Tuesday, first day of school.

No additional classroom facilities have been constructed for two years and it will probably be next fall before more classroom facilities can be completed.

To meet the need for more space, a large teachers' room has been converted to a classroom and a library will become another room when there is a need. A kindergarten of 70 students operated privately will be allowed to continue to use school facilities until its basement rooms must be turned into classrooms.

ON THE SOUTH edge of Arlington Heights, Forest View school district will start the year Wednesday with an estimated 110 pupils, only eight more than left school in June.

Last September there were 90 pupils, however. The school's four rooms will be able to accommodate the 110 students, said board secretary Mrs. Robert Hutchings.

High School Enrollment Nears 3,350

Enrollment figures released Tuesday show a 556 student increase for Arlington Heights township high school district 214 during the 1958-59 school year.

A total of 1483 juniors and seniors have signed up at Arlington high school and 1845 freshman and sophomores have enrolled at Prospect high school.

Administrators in both schools have urged all prospective students to complete enrollment by Friday to insure a satisfactory start when classes begin Sept. 3.

INCLUDED IN the 3328 total enrollment to date are 944 freshmen, 901 sophomores, 862 juniors, and 621 seniors. The total enrollment for both schools last year averaged 2772.

Because the total enrollment figures change daily with each new student, a final total is not yet available. At the time school convenes Tuesday, officials expect the combined total for both schools to exceed 3350.

Public School Bells Ring For 10% More Enrollment

Some 3600 youngsters, 10 per cent more than began school last year, will troop into the classrooms of Arlington Heights elementary district 25 next Tuesday.

As of the end of last week, exactly 3,573 pupils were registered and school authorities expected a last-minute registrations to boost the total to around 3,600.

DESPITE THE jump in enrollment, there will be no double sessions in grades one through eight this year, as there have been throughout most of the postwar period of expansion.

Last year, the return to school found about 200 students on shorter sessions, a number only half that of the previous year. With the availability of 11 more classrooms this year, there is no longer any need for the doubling-up.

The new facilities are at Windsor school, a seven-room building located at the east end of the Miner junior high school site, and a four-classroom addition at Ridge school, which had several classes on half-days until this year. Another addition at Ridge school is a multi-purpose room which will also serve as a center of adult community activities.

CONSTRUCTION of the two projects was approved by the voters more than a year ago. The proceeds of a $350,000 bond issue went for construction, with the contract awarded in November at a construction cost of $239,643. General contractor for the facilities was Alan Construction co. of Northbrook.

Classes will resume with a total of 129 class sections, 94 in kindergarten through fifth grade and 35 at the junior high school level.

The size of the average class at the start of the year will be 27.7 pupils, a figure slightly under the 30 pupils per class standard sought by Supt. R. E. Clabaugh. The average size will reach 30 pupils before the end of the school year, however, as more families move into newly-completed homes, school officials are sure.

THE OPENING day estimated enrollment of about 3,600 compares with an enrollment of 3,277 last year, and an enrollment of 3,008 in 1956. Thus the increase this year will be about 50 higher than for the previous year but well under enrollment jumps of 375 and 380 pupils in the 1954-56 era.

Preliminary enrollment by school: K-5 schools — Ridge, 421; North, 524; Windsor-Miner, 485; Dryden, 314; Park, 551; and Westgate, 249; junior high schools — Miner, 335; and South, 694.

Napper, 4, Sleeps On 'Bed of Fire'

When 4-year-old Steven Rudnik walked out of a bedroom after his nap Sunday, his father smelled the pungent odor of smoke on the boy's clothing.

That was the first indication the boy's parents had of a fire that seriously damaged a bed while the boy slept on it.

"When my husband smelled the smoke we walked into the room and found it filled with smoke," said Mrs. Raymond Rudnik, 225 S. Gibbons. "The fire had been started on the bed and a part of the mattress and most of the innerspring was burned. The smoldering fire hadn't burned the end of the bed Steve was sleeping on, and he wasn't injured."

HER EXPLANATION of the couple's failure to notice the smoke before was that the door had been closed and the room air-tight.

The lad had been put to bed in his parents' room more than an hour before. He usually sleeps in his own room and his curiosity apparently got the better of him. The mother said the boy may have obtained matches from a dresser drawer in the room and started the fire. There were matches on the floor of the room.

Arlington Heights firemen quickly extinguished the fire after they received the call at 3:10 p.m.

Tax Books Close Tuesday, Sept. 2

All local township collectors will hold their offices open Tuesday, Sept. 2, which will be the last day that the second installment of 1957 taxes can be paid without a penalty.

William Annen, Wheeling township collector, expects that the collections the next three days will bring the total to a year ago.

Arnold Scharringhausen, Elk Grove collector, gives a similar report.

The individual tax payments are necessarily higher because of increases in tax rates, but the majority of the property owners were able to meet their tax obligation.

SIDELIGHTS OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

Local families on out-of-town vacations are returning to Arlington Heights in increasing numbers as the last day of vacation and the first day of school nears, and reports of unusually heavy dust clouds are probably due to the kids dragging their feet along the road home. In the opinion of almost everyone it was the shortest summer on record.

The Newell Crockett family made it home to 802 S. Highland in time for school and with a week to spare, arriving in the very early morning hours Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Crockett vacationed for two weeks in Mexico City and Acapulco, Mex., while the children enjoyed a stay in Ft. Madison, Iowa with their grandparents, the senior Crocketts and Mrs. H. N. Ames.

OTHER MONDAY returnees were Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Murphy and the boys, 9 S. Salem. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy and Terry left 3 weeks ago for Temagemi, Canada to pick up Dennis who had been at a camp there for 6 weeks. From Temagemi the family went to Long Island, N.Y. for a visit with Mrs. Murphy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Corwin.

Mrs. Robert Sullivan returned home to 823 N. Walnut Saturday after spending 2 months in Santa Monica with her daughter and family, the Douglas Johnsons. Mrs. Sullivan was greeted upon her arrival in California by her grandson, Jeff, who was joined by a sister, Peggy, born July 28. In the way of all grandmothers with a brand new grandchild, Mrs. Sullivan is glad to be home again, at the same time wishing she could have stayed longer.

THE RICHARD SWEET family a lakeside cottage near Spooner, Wis. Before they left, Pam celebrated her 11th birthday with a supper party for 9 girl friends at her home.

Also enjoying the Wisconsin lakes were the Frank Dicanios, 730 N. Chestnut, who spent 2 weeks at a lake near Burlington. They returned late Thursday.

Warren, son of the Stanley Myers, 403 E. Eastman, spent last week at the music camp at Interlochen, Mich.

Mrs. Dale Hauser and Debby returned home to 404 W. Oakton Saturday after nearly a month of vacationing and visiting in Iowa with former neighbors and friends in Des Moines and with Mrs. Hauser's parents in Gowrie. Early in the month Mr. and Mrs. Hauser vacationed for a week in northern Minnesota with Des Moines friends while their daughter was at camp in Boone, Iowa with her friend, Debbie Estell who recently visited the Hausers here.

After Mr. Hauser's vacation, his wife and daughter remained in Iowa another week to visit Mrs. Hauser's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Plottner. Mr. Plottner recently suffered a heart attack and was just home from the hospital in time to enjoy the visit of his daughter and granddaughter.

Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Hauser entertained Chicago, Evanston and local friends at a fish fry, the main course being the results of Mr. Hauser's success with rod and reel during his week in northern Minnesota.

THE JAMES YATES family came home to 903 N. Vail Sunday, seasoned campers after a 3-week camping trip along the border lakes of Minnesota and Canada. Veteran of them all was Susan who had had 10 days at Camp Norwesco, a new girl scout camp near Bloomer, Wis., just prior to the family's departure for Minnesota. During a stay at a camp on Lake Superior, the Yates met another Arlington Heights family, the Owen Olivesons, 1011 W. Campbell. Further proof that the camping bug has bitten other residents of the area came when Mrs. Yates and her niece from Elk Grove met by chance at a campsite at Crane Lake, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. Weir Swanson, 901 S. Highland, recently vacationed for a week at Hika, Wis., while their daughter, Jeanne, enjoyed a stay at Camp Tiyalaka at Westfield, Wis., and Barbara was at Camp Rodney Kroehler in Hayward. Jeanne returned home over the weekend and Barbara will return this Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jack and the children, 642 S. Evergreen, returned early last week after about two weeks at a cottage on Long lake, near Spooner, Wis. They arrived at Spooner by way of the scenic, 4-state route which is the long way around but according to the Jacks, worth the extra distance because of the beauty along the way.

THE JOHN KRUK family, 1010 N. Mitchell, mixed the rugged pleasures of camping with the softer way of life on their recent 2-week vacation. After touring and sightseeing in the New England states, they camped for a week at Arcadia National park at Mt. Desert Island, Me. Fog blanketed the coast for two days but when it lifted the family enjoyed swimming, hiking and Maine's coastal scenery. Before their return to Arlington Heights, they spent a few days at Long Island, N. Y. with Mrs. Kruk's sister and family.

The Paul Burgess family, 517 S. Evergreen, returned Saturday after two weeks at a cottage near Glen Lake, Mich.

MICHIGAN ALSO provides the favorite vacation spot for the Francis McDonald family, 215 W. Orchard, who recently returned from a cottage on Lake Michigan at Crystal Lake, Mich. Planned activites as well as well-organized loafing is possible at the vacation colony there and Douglas appeared in a presentation of the operetta, "Hansel and Gretel" while sister Susan played in a tennis tournament.

Mrs. McDonald, whose paintings have gained attention at several art shows in this area, indulged in her favorite pastime and had the opportunity to study briefly under John Goodyear of the University of Michigan.

Since the family's return, Susan celebrated her 16th birthday at a wienie roast and outdoor dancing party with 15 young couples who were her guests August 18. Sunday Mrs. McDonald was among local artists whose paintings were shown at the Oak Park art fair.

Mrs. John St. Germaine, Mary and John are home again at 913 Frederick after visiting for two weeks with Mrs. St. Germaine's parents in Topeka.

Lots of boating and good fishing was the easy to take schedule for the past three weeks for the George Arndt family, 634 S. Evergreen. They returned Saturday night from Egg Harbor, Wis. where they have a summer cottage.

Mrs. Thomas Mathews and Lynne, 711 N. Dunton, and Mrs. Earl Busse and Mary, 712 N. Kaspar, recently returned after a week at the Geneva Summer School of Missions, an interdenominational camp at Conference Point, Williams Bay, Wis. Both women are active in the organization and Mrs. Mathews taught a children's class with Mrs. Busse serving as an instructor's helper.

MRS. CHARLES LIPS, 711 N. Evergreen, observed her 87th birthday Monday, receiving the congratulations of friends and relatives who called at her home during the day. It was a quiet celebration following a busy week which Mrs. Lips had spent visiting with cousins in Winona, Minn. She returned home Sunday night with her son and family, the Howard Lips who had vacationed for the week in Park Rapids, Minn. at the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Moore, 713 N. Evergreen.

An especially happy schedule has been in force lately at the Paul Williams home, 837 S. Chestnut, where the Williams' son, Bob, arrived Sunday from Dhofar on the Arabian peninsula. Bob works in Dhofar for an American oil company and is home on his annual vacation until September 15. The week prior the Williams' daughter, Mrs. Tom Orihel who has been staying with her parents, welcomed her husband home.

Mr. Orihel has been at the University of Michigan all summer and just finished a course of study in the biological department. Last week his brother, Joseph and family of Akron, Ohio, spent several days at the Williams' home visiting him.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Eriksen, 5 W. Orchard, celebrated their August 20 wedding anniversary last Saturday evening with the Russell Hansens. The foursome dined out, then attended the performance at Shady Lane theater.

SEVERAL Arlington Heights teachers whose homes are elsewhere in the state returned here early this week after a summr with thir families. Miss Dorothea Wolf of Ludlow was the first arrival Sunday at the apartment at 550 N. Walnut that is home here during the school year. Monday Miss June Leick and Miss Lillian Callihan returned from their respective homes in Macomb to join Miss Wolf. With the arrival of Miss Martha Frey from Carthage the contingent at 550 N. Walnut was complete. Each of the teachers enjoyed vacation trips during the summer months.

European trips pleasantly occupied the summer months for two Arlington Heights teachers who returned within the last week. Miss Doris Black, 525 W. Euclid, left for Europe by plane June 13. She traveled independently with a friend for three weeks, then joined a travel group for the rest of her stay, visiting all of the European countries except Spain and Portugal. Miss Black returned to the United States by ship, disembarking at Montreal August 20.

MISS VIRGINIA Herrod whose home is in Eureka left with her sister, Edith, June 11 to begin her third trip to Europe. The sisters traveled independently, planning a leisurely itinerary based on the experience of Miss Herrod's previous trips. They visited Spain and Portugal, and the southern coast of France and Italy, then toured the Scandinavian countries. They returned to Eureka Saturday and Miss Herrod arrived here Monday morning.

Friends and neighbors of the Robert Martins are welcoming Mrs. Martin since her return Saturday to 641 S. Dunton. Mrs. M Martin was seriously injured in an automobile accident Easter Sunday and has since been hospitalized and more recently convalescing in Minneapolis at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Lange. The children, Gail and Nancy, were also in Minneapolis with their grandparents since their mother's accident and returned with her Saturday.

MISS BETH Roedell, daughter of Mrs. Patricia Roedell, 530 N. Walnut, was hostess recently to 13 young couples who enjoyed a lazy summer evening of dancing and refreshments in the Roedell home. When curfew was sounded and the party ended, it was over only for the male half of the guests. Beth's girl friends stayed overnight for a typically sleepless slumber party.

Last week Beth and her brother, Dick, visited for several days in Dubuque.

Mrs. H. H. Dornburg of Oakview, Pa. is spending a week here with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Snodgrass, 15 E. Fairview.

Mrs. Parker will be married September 5 in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights to Alexander Frasier of Deerfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Haberichter, 22 Kennicott, left last Thursday to spend the weekend at the international music camp at Interlochen, Mich., where their son, Bill, was among the Arlington Heights high school band members present. The local band was the only one in the state invited to the world famous camp this year, and its members took part in a concert presented for visitors Sunday.

Also at Interlochen for the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stoffel, 133 S. Highland, whose son, Mickey, has spent the past week there with the high school band.

Will Remember Topsy Turvy Harvest '58

by TOM BRENAN

As suburbanites huddled around the charcoal grill and elbowed their way toward its radiating warmth Sunday, they may have darkly recalled that Summer, 1958, has not had ideal weather.

As the chicken browned ever so slowly and the gooseplmples rose from toe to kneecap, the family pessimist probably remembered that on four out of six occasions the barbecue was finally held indoors.

Except for the hot spell in August, this was a summer of sweaters and slickers.

BUT, AS THE SAYING goes, one cook's burnt offering is another man's charcoal-broiled delight and not everybody who lives in the suburban area was displeased by the weather.

Despite the topsy-turvy sequence of wet and dry periods this summer, crops have been exceptionally good for northwest Cook county farmers and truck gardeners, reports a farm adviser.

Almost everything went wrong with the weather during the 1958 growing season, according to James Fizzell, assistant farm adviser at the Arlington Heights office of the Cook county farm bureau.

April began with abnormally high temperatures, then cooled down and stayed that way all during spring and the first few days of June. While it was a cool spring, it was also a dry spring.

In the second week of June the weather took an abrupt change. The rains began and continued with regularity through most of July.

"Rainfall for the year was below normal in the first five months of the year but the heavy rains of early summer have brought the total back to the normal amount of about 25 inches by this time of year," notes Fizzell.

COOK COUNTY was fortunate in getting just the right amount of rain for good growing conditions, he added. To the north, in Wisconsin, there was a prolonged drought while a short distance to the south, in the Kankakee area, too much rain washed out some planted fields.

In this area some flooding of low spots was reported and farmers couldn't work soggy fields until they had dried out but otherwise the rain was a boon.

"There weren't three days of 90-degree weather before August 1," continued Fizzell, "and the crop outlook wasn't promising until the weather warmed about that time."

The combination of plenty of moisture in the ground and late but ample cooperation from Old Sol brought the crops on well this month.

The results:

"There are two ears of corn for every one last year and the sweet corn is the best I've ever tasted," asserted Fizzell.

ALONG WITH sunshine, there was hail in some areas on one afternoon early this month. Some bruising of tomatoes, a cause for downgrading at the cannery, was noted and the leaf covering of vine crops was beaten down in the five-minute hailstorm. But the slight damage did not darken the overall report of bumper crops.

Fizzell pointed out that exceptional yields and high quality of fruit and vegetables didn't mean more money for suburban truck gardeners.

On the contrary, the abundance depressed wholesale prices the farmer received, declared the young farm adviser.

Cabbage is being plowed under because it doesn't pay to cut it for the going price of 60 cents a crate (3 cents a head), he added. And sweet corn, bringing only $1.40 for a crate of four dozen ears at the produce marts, is also down in price from previous years.

Farmers who contracted their tomato crops to Campbell Soup co. before planting time are doing all right but those who waited to sell until the tomatoes were green on the vine have been hurt.

A FEW GROWERS have tried to beat low wholesale prices by operating roadside fruit stands but business has slacked off noticeably for the stands this year, according to one owner.

Gust Hoeske, an Elk Grove township truck farmer who has run a stand on Higgins rd. for upwards of 20 years, has had far fewer customers of late.

"It's these frozen foods," said Hoeske. "These housewives don't want to spend any time cooking a meal so they buy frozen foods instead of fresh vegetables."

Hoeske continues to haul much of his produce to a farmer's market on the north side of Chicago. The foreign-born who live in the area still buy their vegetables from him there, he said. But he closes up his stall by 7 p.m. these days whereas he once stayed opened until 10. And he is the last Elk Grove farmer who hauls to the market.

When retired northwest area farmers get together (in Miami Beach?) some years from now, the talk is likely to center on the harvest of 1958.

With topsy-turvy weather, bumper crops and low prices, the farmers will have much more to remember than the families who moved the grill indoors to the garage.

BUMPER CROPS are being harvested by northwest Cook county truck gardeners this summer but prices are down because of the abundant supply and business has slacked off at roadside stands, Farmer Gust Hoeske, who farms on Higgins rd. and operates a stand in front o his home, estimated that business dropped of by half this year. Beside him is a neighbor boy, Norman Behning, who helps with the harvest.

ELK GROVE TOWNSHIP truck gardener Louis Sass (right), his son Bruce (left) and Ferman Mata (back to camera) harvest onion sets on the Sass farm on Higgins rd. Sets are scooped up from fieldcs and placed in racks to dry, later run through screens for sorting according to size, as the trio is doing here.

THE HONOR SYSTEM is now in effect at four toll booths at the Rohlwing rd. interchange on the Northwest tollway. Arlington Heights motorist Neal Bonn, 431 S. Propose $2 Billion Sewer Program for Sanitary Dist.

A bold, comprehensive flood control study estimates communities within the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago will shell out upwards of $2 billion in building local sewers during the next 50 years.

TO COPE with this vastly expanded sewer network and also control future extreme floods, the report recommends a $286,000 construction program by the sanitary district in the next half century.

In the proposed 50-year development program of engineering works for primary and secondary channels and reservoirs, the report recommends spending 157 millions now. This would be for initial facilities to handle the stupendous storm flow envisioned from Chicago and suburbs in the next five decades when the population is expected to be double today's esitmated 4,930,702.

The study, prepared by John F. Meissner Engineers, Inc., consulting engineers, was released Tuesday by William F. Patterson, sanitary district president. The report is being studied.

HIGHLIGHTS OF the proposals include stepping up the flow capacity in the sanitary district canals and the Chicago river, construction of huge pumping stations at the lake outlets (Chicago river mouth, North Shore channel at Wilmette, and at the Calumet Lock)—also flood water retention basins in Lake Michigan, and a number of recreational-flood water reservoirs along existing waterways.

The report discarded, as either too expensive or not feasible for an overall plan, eight previously announced schemes — including one that would utilize the abandoned Illinois and Michigan canal as a storm drainage channel.

THE PROJECTS recommended and estimated costs:

1. Widening of the ship canal system from the North Shore channel at Wilmette to Brandon road south of Joliet, miscellaneous small ditches emptying directly into the ship canal, and a Chicago river pumping plant—estimated cost $84 million. The initial phase involves canal widening and providing a start on the small ditches at a cost of $24 million.

2. For the north branch of Chicago river above Niles: A lagoon system above Touhy avenue in Niles to store two inches of runoff, also enlargement downstream from Niles of the channel, and miscellaneous small ditches. Total cost: $16 million. Cost of initial phase: $11 million.

3. Channel enlargements and pumping station at Wilmette along with a detention basin in the lake—total cost, $25 million; initial phase, $19 million.

4. For the Calumet river basin at Lake Calumet: A pumping plant at Calumet Lock, channel enlargements in the Little Calumet and Calumet rivers and enlargements and pumped storage basins along Stony creek, Thorn creek, Calumet-Union drainage ditch, Calumet slough, and other drainage ditches—total cost, $47 million; initial phase, $28 million.

5. A reservoir and creek improvements on the Des Plaines river above Gurnee, west of Waukegan—total cost, $13 million; initial phase, $4 million. The reservoir would cover an area of 13 square miles, have a maximum water depth of 20 feet. Estimates include cost of concrete and earth dam, also replacing three miles of highways and raising 10 miles of railway track.

6. Channel improvements and flood-control recreation facilities in the Des Plaines river between Riverside and Gurnee and along Salt creek, Addison creek, Silver creek, and Willow creek — total cost, $66 million; initial phase, $50 million. The proposal includes acquiring areas necessary to pond runoff in the Salt Creek watershed at five locations: (a) above Higgins road, (b) ½ mile above Irving Park road, (c) above Lake street in vicinity of Addison, Ill., (d) above 31st street, and (e) Riverside Woods.

7. Enlargement of Des Plaines river capacity from Riverside to the spillway at Sanitary and Ship canal, and improvements on Flag creek, Sawmill creek, and nearby drainage ditches, together with pumped storage basins — total cost, $35 million; initial phase, $21 million.

THE MEISSNER report urges establishment of a central authority to carry out a metropolitan area flood control program.

"To get all of the various governments," who now split up jurisdiction over various phases involved in the overall probem, "to act together for their mutual advantage is impossible," the report states.

It asserts: "It is this lack of central authority that has for so long delayed the flood control improvements now urgently needed."

The metropolitan sanitary district now has the responsibility for sanitation and drainage; the Army Corps of Engineers, primarily navigation; the Illinois Division of Waterways, the maintenance of non-navigable streams; and the Forest Preserve district, maintenance and preservation of forested areas. There also are the many municipalities, local drainage districts, conservation districts and county governments.

This Water Tank: A Matter of Pride

Recalling the fuss kicked up in Arlington Heights two summers ago over the location of a new elevated water tank, 99 out of 100 townspeople consider the tanks ungainly eyesores.

But to Dale R. Hauser of 404 Oakton st., the tanks are useful well-designed — even handsome. They are a source of pride to him. Houser, of course, is in the Chicago office of the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel co., which fabricates and erects the tanks.

HE MOVED to the village last fall and rented a home which turned out to have a view of the site eventually decided upon for the tank. Knowing that he'd be looking at the tank over the edge of his breakfast coffee, Hauser decided the proposed tank would have to be one of his own.

Imagine the embarrassment if company bigwigs came visiting, noticed and inquired about the tank and he had to admit that it was put there by the competition? That would be worse than if the mayor of Detroit were caught driving a Volkswagen.

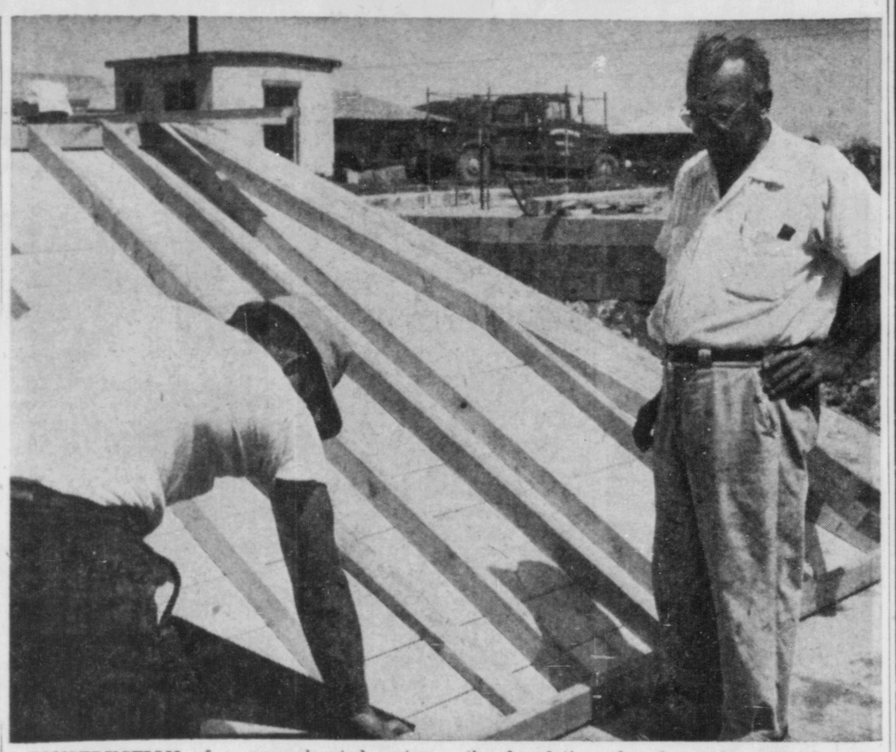
So Hauser put in a bid that was sure to get the project at Ridge and Thomas sts. for his company. The bid was, he says, "a lower price than I got on other jobs in the Chicago area."

THE TANK foundations are now being put in and the erection of the 325-ton steel tank will begin in about a week. It will be completed about December 1, nearly one year sooner than originally anticipated.

When the contract was let in April, village officials were told that steel was in such short supply that they would have to wait 12 to 18 months for delivery. In the interim, steel became plentiful, said the executive.

The tank, to be a duplicate of Mount Prospect's downtown tank, will hold slightly over one million gallons of water, weighing about 8.5 million pounds. It will increase water pressure throughout the village and particularly on the second floors of north side homes.

Let the company president come calling at the Hauser home now! (AF



CONSTRUCTION of a new elevated water storage tank to improve water pressures for the north side of Arlington Heights began more than a week ago. Shown working on the foundations for the tank at Ridge and Thomas sts. are Dean Doose (left) of Niles, and his father Walter, both of the John Erskine co.

Planners Propose Bold Overhaul of Village Zoning

A tightly-worded proposed new zoning ordinance for Arlington Heights was handed to the village zoning commission this week by Evert Kincaid and Associates, urban planning consultants.

The 11-page document is a comprehensive overhauling of the still-used 1927 zoning ordinance. The revamping was undertaken as a part of the current master planning effort.

The revisior does not specify what areas would be rezoned or reclassified. It only sets out suggested new rules "to protect the character and the stability of the residential, business and manufacturing area . . and to promote the orderly and beneficial development of such areas . . . "

Robert W. Phillips, 538 S. Pine, chairman of the zoning commission, said the group will begin studying the Kincaid proposals immediately and later hold public hearings. The village board and plan commission will also review it, and final adoption will be up to the village board.

KINCAID WOULD increase the number of one-family residence districts from one to three, business districts from one to three and set up new two-family residence and limited manufacturing districts.

Lot sizes for the proposed one-family districts would be 15,000 square feet, in R-1, 10,000 square feet in R-2 and 8,750 in R-3. The R-4 two-family district lot size would be 6,000 square feet.

Two multiple-family dwelling districts, R-5 and R-6, would require 2,100 square feet and 1,800 square feet per living unit respectively.

The most restrictive B-1 business district would permit generally only retail stores, offices, clubs, lodges and meeting halls while in the B-2 general business district such uses as service stations and drive-ins would be permitted.

SMALL PROCESSING or assembly plants and a large number of uses banned in B-1 and B-2 districts would be allowed in the B-3 general service, wholesale and motor vehicle district.

In the M-1 district, called a light manufacturing district, there would be strict controls over such objectionable factors as smoke and noise.

Off-street parking requirements desired by the planners are not markedly different from existing standards except that each new home would be required to have off-street parking, in other words, a driveway.

Also new to the village but now on trial in Chicago is a plan to force removal of buildings which do not conform to zoning codes. Non-conforming buildings would be removed after a certain specified interval, depending on their assessed real estate valuation. A non-conforming building assessed at $2,000 or less, for example, would have to be torn down within two years. (AF

Sputnik Propels Teaching Team into Arlington Hts.

PETER and INA Babris glance at textbook Arlington high students will be using in Russian classes this year. Language teacher Babris and his wife, who will teach fourth grade at Dryden school, are natives of Latvia who escaped Red imprisonment following World War II.

The Russians have chased a husband and wife teaching team into Arlington Heights.

Although Peter and Ina Babris didn't arrive on Sputnik, they could well thank the Red invention for creating Babris' position at Arlington high school. The school will be offering Russian for the first time next year.

THE COUPLE LEFT their native Latvia following World War II because "we couldn't accept the Russian philosophy." The pair's relatives were not so lucky. Peter had three brothers and three sisters carted away to Siberian prison camps, and Ina lost practically all her kin in the same manner.

Ina, who will teach fourth grade at Dryden school this fall, paid a personal sacrifice to the "Russian philosophy," the death of her first husband, by whom she has an 18 year-old son.

Peter, 41, and Ina, 38, first met in West Germany, where they had fled in 1944. After a year of teaching children of the United States occupation forces, Peter came to Canada. Ina following with her parents two years later.

Babris came to the U.S. in 1950 to study Latin classics and modern languages at the University of South Dakota in Aberdeen. He and Ina were married New Year's Eve, 1951, in Canada.

PETER FINISHED his study at Aberdeen, earning an M.A. in the spring of 1952. He and his wife moved to Racine, Wis., where Mrs. Babris took education courses at Dominican college.

Peter had difficulty convincing school boards that Russian was a necessary language. He finally found a position at Kewanee and commuted on weekends from Racine.

Tired of the four hour trip he taught part time in three different Racine schools last year and watched science change the American attitude towards the Russian language.

He found positions plentiful this fall and accepted a position at Arlington. Both began pre-school workshop this week while still looking for a place to live.

Now naturalized citizens, they laugh at the language teacher's plight in learning to speak English. Peter, who speaks Latvian, German, Polish, Russian, and knows classic Greek and Latin, said English pronunciation threw him. "I had no trouble with the grammar, however, if that gives any hope to struggling teen-age English students."

BESIDES HIS one class of Russian, Babris will teach Latin and German. He says he insists on using the Russian, rather than the English, alphabet in his instruction. He emphasizes learning to speak the language as well as to read it, and reports that students have a fairly good grasp of conversational Russian after one year of study.

Adults also have a great interest in learning Russian, reports Babris, who taught adult education part time in Racine. "Engineers have found out that much of the Reds' so-called secret scientific information has been in Russian magazines for some years, but few Americans can read the language." (B8

Shepherd 'School' Set To Open

School days will soon be here — even for the family dog.

"Gala," a German Shepherd dog, owned by Lucy L. Huck, RR 3, Palatine, has been enrolled for the Fall Obedience training course of the Shoreline German Shepherd club starting Sept. 3, at the Highland Park high school.

THE CLUB, a non-profit hobby group dedicated to the promotion of German Shepherd dogs, will train owners and their pets in the basic points of how to make the domestic canine a good citizen rather than a neighborhood nuisance. Classes are conducted from 8 to 9 p.m. every Wednesday during the three month course.

Members and trainees of the club hail from virtually every North suburban community. Shepherd owners interested in attending the sessions are asked to get in touch with Les Kodner, membership chairman, of 1980 Lewis Lane, Highland Park (Idlewood 2-6115). (B8

A Message From George Harris

SELF MEDICATION CAN BE DANGEROUS

There is no machine invented that is as complex as your own body. Yet, when something is wrong with their body, some people attempt to correct it themselves.

CORRECT DIAGNOSIS IS NECESSARY TO PROPER TREATMENT

It is almost impossible for any untrained person to repair a modern machine. Only skilled, experienced people are entrusted with such work. Since your body is ever so much more difficult to repair, why let anyone, who is not an expert, even yourself, tinker with it?

ONLY A PHYSICIAN HAS THE KNOWLEDGE AND TRAINING

At the first sign of any illness, let him discover the cause, instead of depending on home remedies that usually only give temporary relief.

LET YOUR PHYSICIAN PRESCRIBE PROPER MEDICATION

From the many medicines in a prescription pharmacy he will specify the particular one best for you. You will save much future sickness-time, perhaps even your life, if you follow this sincere advice.

Six Suburbanites Preserve Romance of Commuting

THE NORTHWEST EXPRESS gets final check. Supervising is Ken Larson, while Jim Perry gives rubber a thorough inspection. Bob Walker peers from under hood, about to give his o.k.

by TED SMART

A hundred years from now, youngsters will still sit bug-eyed in front of television sets watching pony express riders elude hostile injuns and stage coaches bring passengers and mail in safety.

School teachers will continue to capture pupil interest in the next century with stories of the Spanish armada, the railroads opening the West, and the first moon missle.

But where will the traditions and lore of the suburban commuter be recorded in the vast history of transportation? Who will sing the songs of commutation tickets and bus schedules?

WILL A 21st century Homer chant the saga of half-empti e d coffee cups, of Tums for t h e tummy, and snow-swept railway platforms?

Not bloody likely.

Whether told or untold, sung or unsung, suburban commuters will continue to search for swift e r, cheaper, and more convenient transportation. One group, i t seems, appears to have found the ultimate in commuter serv i c e aboard the Northwest Express.

The Northwest Express (formerly the Banker's Special) is a light blue 1953 sedan owned jointly by six northwest area men. Together, Jim Perry of Palatine, Bob Mustoe and Ken Larson of Mt. Prospect, Bob Walker of Arlington Heights, Clyde Schuetz of Prospect Heights, and D i c k Ericson of Park Ridge drive into Chicago and home again e a c h working day.

The six all hold offices in the unincorporated Northwest Express corporation, and each has his duties. Schuetz, a Ph.D., is the comptroller, handling all the accounting. Ericson is the treasurer, controlling the corporation's funds and disbursements. T h e men all take turns at the wheel.

Principal assets of the f i r m include the car and an undisclosed bank balance. The bank account grows each month with regular deposits received f r o m each member of the board of directors, who are assessed according to the distance they are transported.

"What makes it work s o smoothly," said Larson, "is that all the fellows work together at the U.S. Gypsum company research laboratory, and no time is lost driving to several points."

THE 60-MILE ROUND trip to and from the lab, at 1253 Diversey parkway, Chicago, costs Larson an average of $18 a month, while Ericson, whose trip is shorter, pays about $14.

The nine-year history of t h e Northwest Express has proved to board members that they c a n ride at 60 per cent of the cost of public transportation, but t h e main thing, they agree, is t h e convenience of door-to-door pick-up and delivery.

"What public system w o u l d pick you up at your front door, drive you to work, and bring you home again at night at a little more than half the prevailing rates?" they ask.

What system indeed?

IN THE PAST nine years, the group has outworn two previous cars, the first two purchased used, and the present vehicle is beginning to show signs of old age. The corporation has put over 91,000 miles on the car.

Perry said the concens u s among members is to keep the present car until repairs "get out of hand," but there are signs that this is not so much economy as it is affection.

"The old bus has served us well," he said.

YES, THE POETS will forget and the helicopters will replace the Northwest Express in t h e next century. Television scriptors will crank out westerns, and history teachers will dwell on the great moments in transportation.

But there are still six men who will recall long into old age the Northwest Express — one crazy car pool. (B8

Police Justify Use of Radar

Believing that the purpose of police departments is to eliminate speeding as a safety measure, Paddock Publications is passing this word on to residents of neighboring communities.

Arlington Heights has adopted a radar system of speed control. An unmarked old car parked on the side of the road with trunk o p e n means that speeds are automatically recorded. About 300 feet distant, a police car flags down all cars exceeding the posted speed limit.

The fines are usually $8 and up. Tickets must be presented in court where a third person can appear for the defendent. No settlement can hereafter be made at the business establishment of the police magistrat.

CHIEF CALDERWOOD says that the department's activity is purely educational to impress upon drivers that speed limits must be obeyed in Arlington Heights.

Police departments of this area are cooperating in the Driver Courtesy Program over Labor Day weekend of the Illinois Department of Traffic Safety.

Names of drivers meriting the courtesy award will be forwarded to the state office.

Information of drivers meriting such an award should be given to the local police departments. (B8

Complete 'Y' Swim Sessions

The last swimming session in the summer program at the Northwest Suburban YMCA was over on August 15 with several girls and boys leaving them knowing how to swim.

Those boys who learned to swim a width were: Don Medal, Ken B r a u e r, John Cappitelli, Reid Hanson, Mark Nordskog, James Hans, Gary Miller. Three boys completed all the tests to earn Minnow emblems - t h e y were: Douglas Hans, Ken Koenneman, and Robert Palmer. Next to highest emblem the F l y i n g Fish was earned by Jim Hennings and William Hanson.

THOSE GIRLS who were moved from shallow to deep water after passing the Deep Water tests were: Gloria Baer, Nancy Hennings, Becky Krantz, a n d Karen Miller. For the girls the Deep Water test consists of two widths (50 feet crawl stroke) and one width with an emergency stroke (the elementary b a c k stroke). Fourteen girls moved from the Tadpole swim to the M i n n o w class by swimming across the pool: Nancy Carlson, Sharon Daley, Judy Gorski, Diane Jaacks, Linda LaPirie, Kathleen Lange, Patricia Lixvar, Carl McDuffee, Joyce Potempa, Karen Sellergren, Linda Sutter, Dorene Gould, Robin Swain, and Laurel Wiesenthal. (B8

Avoid the use of "occur" loosely in the sense of "appear, present itself, etc." Say, "M a n y fresh springs are to be found (not 'occur') near the town." "Several species of trees grow (not 'occur') here."

Do not say, "After lifting up the package, he returned back home." Omit "up" and "back."

When aye is pronounced to rhyme with "hay," it means always or ever. When pronounced to rhyme with "my," it means yes.

Do not say, "I feel like I had slept for days." Say, "I feel as if (or, as though) I had slept for days."

Petition Fraud Charged In Senatorial Election

County election officials today (Thursday) will hear charges of fraud involving nominating petitions for a Palatine businessman seeking election as state senator for the third district.

An objection was filed Saturday in the Cook county clerk's office to the candidacy of Jack I. Wilcox, running as an independent in the district which includes Palatine, Schaumburg, Hanover, and Barrington townships.

THE OBJECTION was accompanied by affadavits from 254 persons who said their names on Wilcox's nominating petitions were forged. The objection was filed by Knut H. Marin, 3405 Bobolink ln., Rolling Meadows, campaign manager for John A. Graham of Barrington, Republican candidate for state senator.

Marin and his attorney, Sherman H. Canty of Mount Prospect, Elk Grove township Republican committeeman, and Wilcox and his attorney will appear before the election board which can either drop the objection or else remove Wilcox from the ballot.

"I'm not withdrawing from the race," declared Wilcox Tuesday. "I feel those signatures are legitimate. I'll see this thing through. An affadavit doesn't mean anything in court. The people who passed petitions around for me did a good job and I never had any trouble when they did political work for me in previous campaigns. I felt, and I still feel, that I have a good chance to win. I'm still in the race."

Wilcox said he would determine his next move after the election board hearing today.

OWNER OF A liquor store and shoe store in Palatine, Wilcox is also a Republican precinct man in the village.

He said that his supporters started work on his nominating petitions "the first part of May, right after the primary." Circulators of his petitions, all from Palatine, were:

Edward A. Donahoe Jr., 120 N. Elmwood; Floyd Carver, Quentin rd.; Everett Ramstedt, 360 W. Illinois; Robert Schwankoff, 217 N. Brockway; Verla Mae Reed, 303 W. Hellen rd.; Robert E. McDougall, 156 S. Linden ave.; Harold W. Armstrong, 204 N. Rohlwing; and Barton W. Adams, 263 W. Mozart.

Directing the canvas which resulted in the formal charge were Marin and Max Kolin, 2108 Flicker lane, Rolling Meadows, heads of an independent Republican organization which supported Graham's candidacy in the April primary.

"We became suspicious of the petitions," said Marin, "when we discovered that over half of the 943 signatures were residents of Rolling Meadows, yet we had heard nothing about it until they were filed in the clerk's office."

SOME 300 SIGNERS of the petitions were canvassed in two nights by 40 volunteers from the independent Republican group, which included 30 residents of Rolling Meadows and 10 residents of Palatine and Barrington. Graham also took part in the canvas.

Each canvaser was accompanied by a notary public. "We found 254 known forgeries," said Marin. "For example, one woman, whose name was signed, has been dead for more than six months. Eight signers have not lived in the districts from four months to a year. One man is in military service and has not been home for many months. Many of the names were just forged without consent or knowledge of the citizen."

Explaining the interest in this case on the part of his independent group, Marin said it was "motivated by a desire for good government. This has nothing to do with partisanship. We simply don't want Chicago-style politics in the suburbs."

Marin and Kolin both said they would press for prosecution against the eight circulators through the state's attorney regardless of what action the election board takes. (KF

Next week-end brings Labor Day and back to school for the children. This is the last week-end in which the family can all have one big "Get together" before school starts. Naturally, Labor Day brings us closer to "old Man Winter" so let us all make the most of this week-end.

If you are planning a trip, if you are planning a picnic be sure you make it a Safe & Sane one. Yes, "Old Dad Harris" is still on the Safety kick, but I guess it's just in my blood. Take every precaution and be sure you don't take any unnecessary chances over this Labor Day. We fill many prescriptions for those who are ill; but we are not happy when we fill prescriptions for those who have been hurt needlessly. Just take it easy, have a wonderful time, and bring the whole family back, intact.

Be sure and have a pleasant time over Labor-Day week-end and drop in and see us whenever we may serve you.

Village Attorney Rules Against Commercial Zone

Stephen Jurco, Arlington Heights village attorney, last week ruled that a commercial building may not be constructed on a lot at the edge of Stonegate because the lot is not properly zoned.

THE RULING UPSET, at least temporarily, the plans of Edward M. Levin, local real estate operator and developer, to build on the lot. After Jurco ruled that the lot is residentially, rather than commercially zoned, Levin indicated he will seek a zoning change.

The lot is at the southeast entrance to the subdivision from Northwest hwy. A portion of the corner lot, numbered lot 61, fronts on the east side of Windsor dr. and a portion on a street leading diagonally from Windsor dr. to Northwest hwy. The lot is 100 ft. west of a commercial building occupied by Hilltop Studios and H. R. Jaobson real estate office.

The dispute arose out of a 1927 action of the village board. A year before that a plat had been filed with the county recorder showing lot 61 to be located on Northwest hwy. Then on Aug. 29, 1927, the village zoned the lots bordering the highway for commercial use, to a depth of 100 ft., including lot 61.

ONE MONTH later, on September 26, the village board vacated the first plat of what is now Stonegate and accepted a second plat of the same area.

However, noted Jurco's opinion, "In this (second) plat the boundaries of lot 61 had been moved back from its original position on Northwest hwy. so that only a small portion of one corner of the lot is now in the area zoned for commercial use." The portion is measured in inches.

Levin claimed that the commercial zoning applied to lot 61, even after it was moved back from the highway to make room for two small triangular parks at the Windsor dr. entrance to the Stonegate.

The builder maintained that Oleott's Blue Book, a reference book on values of land, lists the property as commercial. Levin also said he has paid taxes on the property at the commercial rate since he bought in 1950. The rate is about 50 per cent higher than for residential land.

LEVIN STATED that the official village zoning map "clearly showed lot 61 in Stonegate as being within the commercial zone" until the old map was replaced by a new one several years ago. The real estate operator noted that in 1951 the village allowed a commercial building to go up on lots 54 and 55, although the lots are partially north of the 1927 zoning ordinance boundary.

In his reply, attorney Jurco pointed out that the 100-foot zoning boundary was not changed by the adoption of a second subdivision plat and that the zoning of the lots was changed when they were moved away from the highway.

Jurco concludes that only the fractional portion of the property within 100 feet of the highway may be used for business and he chides the lot owners for not correcting "the erroneous tax treatment" given lot 61 by the county.

Children's Home Sets Tag Day

A Lake Zurich home for mothers and children from broken homes will solicit funds in Arlington Heights Friday and Saturday.

The Illinois Missionary Children's home will hold a tag day to obtain funds for its program of "keeping families together," according to the director, Rev. Carl P. Nelson.

The home, founded in 1918 by the Chicago Missionary Society, inc., 2016 W. Evergreen, offers temporary and semi-permanent shelter for fatherless families unable to find care elsewhere. It is at 420 Paine st., Lake Zurich. (AF

2 Residents Become New U.S. Citizens

Two residents of Arlington Heights were among a class of new citizens sworn in last week by U. S. District Judge Joseph Sam Perry in Chicago.

One was John William Murphy, the 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold William Murphy, 921 S. Dunton. The other was Magdelena Leiher, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Leiher, 418 W. Campbell.

The Murphy boy, who was adopted in Canada three years ago, stood erect before the judge and answered each question with: "I do."

WHEN THEY reached home, Mrs. Murphy said her boy greeted neighbors with the proud acclaim: "I'm a citizen! I'm a citizen!"

Miss Leiher, who graduated from Arlington high school last year, was 10 years old when her parents immigrated from Romania. Because the parents did not obtain their naturalization papers at the same time, Miss Leiher had to get her own. (AF

Full-Time Fire Chief To Be Named

A full-time fire chief soon will be named in Arlington Heights.

J. Ward Wright, acting village manager, has been sifting applications and is expected to announce the appointment of the new chief soon.

In the past, Arlington Heights has had a volunteer fire department but after the new station was built on N. State rd., the village board of trustees authorized a fire department will full-time personnel.

WENDELL L. Prunty, one of the trustees who served on a board committee to study needs of the fire department, said the matter was now in Wright's hands.

"He has studied the qualifications of the applicants and has the power to make the appointment," Prunty said.

Prunty denied that appointment of the full-time fire chief was being held up while the village studied the advisability of integrating the fire and police departments. (AF

EVERYBODY WANTS A CHURCH NEAR

If we had no churches, life and property would be less safe. We would have no school to teach morals to the children. We would lack meeting places to promote good projects. We would have no one to conduct our funerals and our youth would marry without the spiritualizing influence of religion. No, we just must have churches. But do we leave this to the neighbors?

Park Ridge Pulls For Rte. 62 Change

Park Ridge city manager Jim Galloway said he thinks his city council will back up a Des Plaines resolution that state highway 62 be re-routed entirely out of both cities.

"I can't speak officially for the city; however, this matter was discussed several years ago by our plan commission and they then favored re-routing 62 to Higgins rd.," said Galloway.

Under a proposal recommended by Des Plaines' streets and traffic committee and approved Monday by city council, Illinois state highway 62 would be re-routed along Higgins rd. from the intersection of Talcott and Higgins to the intersection of Higgins and Elmhurst rd. or Higgins and Busse rd. This is the route presently followed by highway 72. (B-12

Secretary of State Gives Boost to Court Reform

Qualified voters in Arlington Heights this week received a message from the Secretary of State's office in Springfield on the judicial reform issue.

It was in the form of a pamphlet and included proposed amendments to the constitution, an explanation of the proposed amendments and arguments for and against the amendments.

Judicial reform—or a proposed amendment to Article VI as it is officially called—will be up for decision when voters go to the polls Nov. 4.

THE PAMPHLET'S analysis of the arguments in favor of reform are:

1. It involves a substantial improvement in our court system and its operation by simplifying and unifying its structure.

2. It offers a real possibility of reducing the cost of litigation.

3. Provides for supervision of all courts by the Supreme Court.

4. Makes possible future changes in the system of selecting judges.

OTHER POINTS in favor of reform are:

At the trial court level, the Circuit Court will integrate and contain all of the present separate trial courts, such as municipal, county, probate, circuit and superior courts, police magistrates and justices of the peace. This, the message said, will remove confusion as to which particular court is the proper one in which to start a particular law suit. Under the change, justices of peace and police magistrates, whose compensation at present is derived from fees, will be salaried officers of the Circuit Court.

The Secretary of State's pamphlet also said procedures for reviewing trial court decisions will be greatly improved and the costs reduced since the Appellate Court will be the court of last review in most instances.

THE PAMPHLET also published what it termed "minority arguments" against the reform measure. Some of the arguments, according to the pamphlet are:

1. The change will result in heavy, increased costs to the taxpayers of Illinois. Under the amendment, state tax money would be substituted for local or fee payment of salaries of many trial judges and all justices of the peace.

2. County, probate and municipal judges would become associate Circuit Court judges and be paid entirely from the state treasury.

3. The increased costs of the judicial system to Illinois taxpayers would involve millions of dollars each year, and this increase would have to be met by increased taxation.

4. The amendment would replace the fee offices of justice of the peace, police magistrates and master in chancery. Instead, we would have salaried magistrates whose salaries would be paid out of the state treasury at a further great expense to the state and its taxpayers.

5. The prposed reform would plunge our court system deeply into a political spoils system.

6. The amendment would result in the loss of home rule to the 102 counties of Illinois and would take away the "poor man's" right of appeal.

Suspend 14 Area Driver's Licenses

The highest number of drivers ever to lose their license in one week in the northwest suburbs was announced this week by Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier.

Although no one had his license revoked, 14 area motorists had their licenses suspended. The cause for all was three moving violations within one year.

THEY WERE among 205 drivers who had their license revoked and 464 who had them suspended.

Those having their licenses suspended included John F. Burk, route 3, Sutton rd., Barrington; James T. Cartwright, 41 E. Comfort lane, Palatine; Edward Christensen, Box 59, Route 1, Rand rd., Barrington; David B. Corso, 715 Pfingsten rd., Northbrook.

Vincent H. Dawson, 3340 Lakeside, Northbrook; Robert J. Ecklund, 735 Lake-Cook rd., Palatine; Ray Eggert, 306 N. Waterman, Prospect Heights; Don M. Foster, 16 N. Bothwell, Palatine; Charles E. Hensley, Route 2, Box 212, Arlington Heights; John Koeppen, 1006 N. Chestnut, Arlington Heights; Joseph M. Mohlman, 810 N. Gibbons ave., Arlington Heights; Frank J. Schuller, 104 N. Schoenbeck rd., Prospect Heights; Stuart Simon, 201 Mohave, Hoffman Estates; and Charles D. Wagstaff, Lot 48, Buffalo Grove. (B8

Wilson Community News

As of August 25, the enrollment at Wilson school was 30 and 70 in the kindergarten section, sponsored by the Wilson Community Kindergarten association. Today, Thursday, has been set aside as registration day for children entering Wilson school for the first time and is a day for all students to pay fees. School authorities hope that parents will see that all this pre-school preparation is completed today.

Mrs. Kenneth Williams, president of the Wilson school PTA gave a luncheon Wednesday for Wilson faculty, other PTA officers and Mrs. James Rice, president of the board of education. The luncheon was a glorified 'break' for the group, which is working at the school during pre-school workshop.

Mary and Ruthie Hawthorn returned last week from a four day vacation in LaPorte, Ind., where they visited relatives. August 24 the Hawthorns celebrated Carla's second birthday with grandparents after which Billy and April Hawthorn took their turns to go to Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hanson and three children, 1641 N. Vail, came home Saturday evening after a week's stay at their cottage at Chain of Lakes, Wis. They also visited Mr. Hanson's family while vacationing.

TWO BIRTHDAYS were celebrated at the John Incavo home last weekend. Kim was 2 and Jeff 5. A backward picnic was held in their honor and 20 relatives attended.

New neighbors residing in Arlington Knolls are Mr. and Mrs. William Rogowsky, the new owners of the Sullivan house, 1561 N. Vail, and Mr. and Mrs. George Butler, residing in the home formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. James Hayden, who moved to Ridgewood, N. J. Arlington Knolls residents extend a welcome to them.

Miss Judy Burke spent an afternoon in Chicago touring the Associated Press news room as the guest of the sports writer, Earl Aykroid, August 25.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Graham are parents of an 8 pound 9 ounce son, Bruce Allen Jr., born August 15 in Sherman hospital, a week after his parents celebrated their first wedding anniversary with an outside buffet supper for 20 guests. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Boyd, 1720 N. Rand rd., and William Graham,

Scout Camp Has A 'Bumper Year'

Camp Napowan, the long term summer camp operated by the Northwest Suburban Council, Boy Scouts of America, 2300 Dempster st., Des Plaines, is concluding a "bumper year" of scout campers at this beautiful Wisconsin north woods camp located on Lake Napowan near Wild Rose, Wis., according to Kenneth C. MacKay, 701 S. Chester, Park Ridge, the council's camping and activities chairman.

More than 1,800 camper weeks have been officially recorded during the 10-week summer camping season at Camp Napowan, according to MacKay, and this number of campers represents the largest group of scout campers to attend Napowan during any single camping season.

THE 380 ACRE Scout summer camp is presently in the final week of operation after 10 previous successful weeks of "High Adventure" for the attending scouts and explorers of the Northwest Suburban Council.

The Northwest Suburban Scout Council is an active, participating member of the Des Plaines, Schiller Park and Suburban Community Chest; the Combined Chest and Council of Niles township, and the United Fund of Park Ridge, Inc. (B8

Substitute Teachers Needed

Area residents interested in substitute teaching at Arlington and Prospect high schools during 1958-59 are invited to attend orientation session during the regular teachers' workshop week.

Planned for Friday, Aug. 29, at 4:00 p.m. in Prospect high school cafeteria, the meeting will include a discussion of general policies affecting substitute teachers, procedures for substitute teachers certification, and a question and answer period.

POSITIONS FOR substitute teachers usually occur for indefinite periods of time in all of the traditional high school subjects, and consequently there is a need for people equipped to teach in any of these areas. At present, however, a shortage of science and math substitutes exists.

Bruno Waara and Lawrence Jenness, administrative assistants of district 214, will conduct the meeting. (B8

Adult Education Program Expands PART 2

Home economics and art facilities of both Prospect high school and Arlington high school will be in use when the fall season adult education program begins in the last week in September.

Sewing classes will be offered at both schools on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, with three classes each in tailoring, intermediate sewing and sewing instruction for beginners.

Mrs. Garnette Green, who has been teaching classes at the high school evening division for a number of years, will be the instructor for the three sections of tailoring. This course for advanced sewing students has become one of the most popular courses in the department. All types of clothing design and remodeling of garments are included in the course. Many students complete fall suits and winter coats in the ten weeks allotted to the course.

INSTRUCTING the intermediate class will be Mrs. Dorothy Scharf, chairman of the home economics department at the high school, and Mrs. Betty Lowry, former evening school teacher now returning to the staff. Beginning sewing teachers are Mrs. Mary Ruth Nealis, member of the staff at Arlington junior high school who has been on the evening school staff of the high school in former seasons, and Mrs. Hazel Jolliffe, home economics instructor at Arlington and Prospect high schools.

A new course in cooking for special occasions will also be offered in the foods laboratory of the Prospect high school, taught by Mrs. Marilyn McLennan. Mrs. McLennan has had both professional training and wide experience in planning and preparation of foods for entertaining and for large groups of people.

Bulletins listing all of the courses for the new semester will be mailed to all residents of the district the second week in September. New residents may secure a brochure by calling the Arlington high school office. Mail registrations will be accepted after September 10, with the library of Arlington high school open for registration on Sept. 22 and 23 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Classes in adult education will start the week of September 29, and most courses continue for 10 weeks. (B8

Decision Slated Thursday In CNW Railway Dispute

Although U. S. District Judge Joseph Sam Perry was expected to rule before Thursday on continuance of the temporary restraining order he issued last week to prevent a scheduled strike of telegraphers on the Chicago and North Western railway, service will continue at least until Thursday, under an extension of the order granted Friday by Judge Perry.

This was done on the court's own motion to permit either side to appeal following his ruling early this week, without the disruption of service that would come in the event of a strike before the emergency appeal is read.

WHEN A FULL day's hearing Monday failed to produce a decision, it was considered possible that a further extenion of the restraining order beyond Thursday might be made, if the arguments proved too long.

At Monday's hearing, Ben W. Heineman, board chairman of the railroad, testified a telegraphers' strike would paralyze the entire system, throw 18,000 employees out of work and cause the railroad to lose $650,000 a day in revenue, a large part from heavy seasonal grain shipments.

Besides, Heineman said, the railroad is the largest switching line in the Chicago area, so that many local industries would have their shipments shut off even on other lines.

THE DEFENDANT union, the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, through Attorney Lester T. Schoene, replied that the strike is its "only alternative" in light of the management's refusal to negotiate on its recent dismissal of 123 telegraphers in South Dakota and Iowa. Pursuant to orders of the public service commission in each of these states, 53 positions were abolished and 16 had their assignments increased under a central agency setup in South Dakota, and 70 abolished and 27 increased in Iowa.

The railroad in contending that these orders, issued pursuant to regulatory commission decisions, are "not bargainable" but only appealable, and that the union is "attempting to freeze a setup on horse-and-buggy days instead of modern transportation and communication."

In addition to serving northwest suburbs with mail and freight service, the C&NW provides transportation for more than 4,500 commuters in Palatine, Arlington Heights, and Mt. Prospect. (B8

Multiple Sessions For Maine High

Maine township high school's 5,000 students will attend classes this fall under an 11 period, multiple session program, designed to provide maximum educational opportunities for all pupils.

An ever-increasing enrollment has necessitated the change from a single session to the multiple-session plan.

The change will be of a temporary nature, however, since the high school's new west campus at Oakton st. and Wolf road is scheduled for completion by the fall of 1959.

With the new program 2,300 upperclassmen will report to school at 7:30 a.m. The majority of upperclassmen will complete their school day at the end of the fifth (11:54 a.m.), sixth (12:44 p.m.), or seventh (1:35 p.m.; period. Dismissal time will depend upon the indivudual student's schedule. Some juniors and seniors will have an eight period day.

The majority of the 2,700 underclassmen will start their school day at the beginning of the fifth (11:10 a.m.), sixth (12 noon), or seventh (12:50 p.m.) period. Some underclassmen will start their school day at the beginning of the fourth (10:20 a.m.) period. Here, again, the time spent in school depends upon the student's schedule. All underclassmen will complete their school day at 5:15 p.m. (B12

Modern Etiquette

Q. Don't you think it rather rude and ill-bred for a bride to wait until she returns from a month's honeymoon to acknowledge her wedding gifts?

A. Yes. These gifts should be acknowledged the day received, while those received at the last while she is away.

Q. Is it all right for a man to use only his initials when signing social correspondence, as for instance, "J. H. Cardington"?

A. No; he should sign his full name, or at least as, "James H. Cardington."

Ancient Japanese Art To Be Shown

Shizuko Preston, A G.I. bride and a U.S. resident of five months, will present a program of instructions in flower arrangement in Wheeling Sept. 10, according to the Westminster Guild of the Community Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Preston will demonstrate the ancient Japanese art in a "theater in the round" presentation at Wheeling school at 8 p.m., said Mrs. George Meier, guild spokesman.

MRS. PRESTON'S background includes attendance at the Nihon Bijutsu Gatsuko (artists college), and Nihon-Ningyo Gatsuko (doll-making school). Tokyo. She now operates a shop at 4947 Milwaukee ave., Chicago.

The young Japanese bride will show dolls and live flowers at the Sept. 10 program. Some of the articles will be imports from her native country, but most will be her own, said Mrs. Meier.

Ordinance No. 58-33

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING CHAPTER 25 OF THE MUNICIPAL CODE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS OF 1954, RELATING TO WATER BY PROVIDING CERTAIN STANDARDS AND PROCEDURES IN CONNECTION WITH THE CONNECTION OF WATER SERVICES.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, COUNTY OF COOK, STATE OF ILLINOIS THAT:

SECTION ONE: Section 25-203 of the Municipal Code of Arlington Heights of 1954 be amended by deleting therefrom the following language:

"Connections. All applications to connect service or supply pipes and house connection sewers with the system shall be made to the Collector upon forms to be furnished by said Village and shall be signed by the applicant. Said applicant shall state the size and the location of the tap required, the size of the service pipe to be used or the size of the sewer connection to be made, and a description of the property to which said pipe or pipes are to be laid and the location where the meter is to be placed. Said application shall contain an agreement on the part of the applicant that he or she will fully comply with all the rules and regulations, conditions and provisions of any ordinances or resolutions relating to the water system and sewerage system and will pay and discharge when due all water rates, sewerage rates, assessments and rentals and all fines and penalties assessed, charged or imposed against said applicant on the property described in said application. If said applicant shall fully conform to the provisions of all ordinances relating to said combined water works and sewerage system or any part thereof and the applicant shall have paid all fees and charges required to be paid, then the Collector shall issue a written or printed permit granting the applicant the right of connection with the distributing mains or the sewerage system in accordance with the terms set forth in the application.

No water shall be turned into any service or supply pipe nor into any premises nor shall any sewer connection be made to any premises without the written permit of the Collector and no such permit shall be issued until all fees have been paid which the ordinances of the Village shall require. Such permit shall be presented to the Superintendent in charge of the work to be done under such permit who shall, where such permit relates to water, turn on the water to the premises therein described." and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"Installation of House Services: The following procedure shall be applicable to all application to connect service or supply pipes to the water mains of the Village system:

(A). License: No service or supply pipe shall be installed or connected to the water mains of the Village system without a permit for each such connection to be installed. Application for such permit shall be made to the Collector and shall be signed by the owner or tenant of the premises involved and the plumbing contractor by whom the work covered by said permit is to be performed. Application for such permit shall be made upon forms furnished by the Village and shall state the size and location of the tap required, the size and composition of the service pipe to be used, the description of the property to which said pipe is to be laid, and the location upon said property where the meter is to be placed. Said application shall contain an agreement on the part of the applicant and the plumbing contractor that they, and each of them, will fully comply with all the rules, regulations, conditions and provisions of any ordinances or resolutions relating to the water system and that the applicant will pay and discharge when due all water rates, assessments, rentals, fines and penalities assessed, or charges imposed against said applicants on account of the property described in the application. If the Superintendent of Public Works shall find that said application complies in all respects with the ordinances, rules, regulations and conditions imposed by the said Village in connection with such service pipe, the Collector shall issue a permit for the installation of the connection described in the application. At the time of issuance, the applicant shall pay to the Village Treasurer a permit fee of $15.00 for each such permit, said permit fee to apply on the cost of inspection and supervision of said installation by the Village.

(B). Bond: Where it is necessary to remove existing public pavement or sidewalks or to tunnel under or auger under such pavement or sidewalks, the contractor shall be required to post a cash bond in the amount of $200.00 with the Village Treasurer for each and every such crossing, to insure the satisfactory restoration of the disturbed pavement or sidewalk; such cash bond shall be held by the Village until such restoration has been inspected and approved.

(C). Notice: Before commencing installation of any service or supply pipe hereunder, the contractor or owner of the premises shall notify the superintendent of public works of such proposed work, not less than 24 hours before commencing same. No excavation performed in connection with such work shall be backfilled before the installation has been inspected and approved by the Superintendent of Public Works or such other person as he may designate to perform such inspection. At the time of such inspection, the completed water service shall be subjected to a pressure test at the Village pressure; each service shall sustain the existing Village pressure for a period of not less than fifteen (15) minutes without leakage before being accepted. Upon satisfactory completion of the inspection heretofore provided for and upon the satisfactory backfilling of any excavations in connection with the installation of said service or supply pipe, the Superintendent of Public Works shall issue a written certificate of approval of the installation.

(D). Consent: Filing of an application for permit pursuant to subsection "A" of this Section shall be deemed consent by the applicants to the entry upon the premises described therein by the Superintendent of Public Works or his authorized representative for the purpose of making the inspections herein provided for.

SECTION TWO: Sub-paragraph 3. of Section 25-206 of the Municipal Code of Arlington Heights of 1954 be amended by deleting therefrom the following language:

"All service pipes shall be of lead of at least three-fourths (¾) inches internal diameter, and shall be laid by the Village to a point outside the curb line. Where larger service pipes are required, increased costs shall be paid by the applicant" and inserting in lieu thereof the following language.

"All service pipes shall be of at least one (1) inches internal diameter; service pipes from the water main to the curb stop shall be lead, or copper and service pipes from the curb stop to the building shall be continuous lead or copper tubing with no intermediate fittings or joints. Service pipes shall be laid by the Village to a point within eight (8) feet of the lot line or as directed by the applicant holding the permit for the installation; all house service taps to water mains shall be made under pressure using a Mueller or equivalent tapping and inserting machine. Where larger service pipes are required, the increased cost of the Village portion of the installation shall be paid by the applicant, in addition to the fee provided for in the preceding portion of this sub-section."

SECTION THREE: Section 25-206 of the Municipal Code of Arlington Heights of 1954 be amended by adding thereto subsection 4(a), immediately following the last sentence of subsection 4, said sub-section to read as follows:

"4(a). The cast iron service box shall be of the adjustable saddle type and shall be installed eight (8) feet streetward from the property line. The contractor making the installation shall adjust said service box to parkway grade. On new subdivisions, the general contractor or builder is responsible to see that said cast-iron service boxes are kept to grade and in good condition; after said installation has been approved by the inspection hereinbefore provided in this Chapter, such general contractor or builder shall be liable for the expense of replacing or repairing such cast-iron service boxes. The corporation cock (tapered thread) curb stops, and all fittings of said installations shall be Mueller, or approved equivalent."

SECTION FOUR: Section 25-206 of the Municipal Code of Arlington Heights of 1954 be amended by deleting therefrom subparagraph five (5) of said Section in its entirety and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"5. All service parts shall have not less than four (4) feet of cover, measured from the finished center-line grade to the top of the service pipe, and shall be so laid as to prevent freezing, breaking or rupture by settling. If lead pipe is used, a goose neck, minimum length of eighteen (18) inches shall be installed in each service line. The goose neck shall be adjacent to the water main, and shall be supported from the bottom of the trench with brick or concrete block supports. If copper pipe is used a minimum of one (1) foot of slack shall be allowed. The service shall preferably be laid at least 10 feet horizontally from any existing or proposed drain or sewer line. If it is not possible or practicable to maintain this horizontal clearance the service shall be installed on an earth shelf in the side of the trench and at least twelve (12) inches above the drain or sewer line. Where it is not possible to maintain a vertical separation of twelve (12) inches the drain or sewer line shall be mechanical-joint cast-iron pipe. Where it is necessary to pass under an existing sidewalk and/or pavement, the contractor shall tunnel beneath the sidewalk and/or pavement unless he is given written permission by the Superintendent of Public Works or his representative to make an open cut. After the service has been installed the contractor shall backfill the remaining void with sand. Where the service will cross beneath a proposed pavement or sidewalk, the trench shall be backfilled with sand or crushed stone and jetted. Such backfill, at the top of the trench, shall extend two (2) feet beyond the edge of the existing or proposed walk and pavement. The remainder of the trench shall be backfilled and compacted in six (6) inch layers, using the excavated material. The contractor shall not backfill the trench until the service has been inspected and approved by the Superintendent of Public Works or his representative. The contractor shall provide adequate barricades, walkways, flares or signals so as to maintain the trench crossing in passable condition until the pavement or sidewalk has been permanently replaced."

SECTION FIVE: Section 21-102 of the Municipal Code of Arlington Heights be amended by adding thereto the following language:

"No applications to have water turned on shall be made or accepted covering an installation made or covering changes, repairs or alterations made after the effective date of this ordinance, unless such application shall be effective upon its pastificate of approval provided for in Section 25-203 of this Code."

SECTION SIX: This Ordinance shall be accompanied by the cersage, approval and publication in the manner provided for by law.

Q. Is it proper, when checks have been received as wedding gifts, to display them with the other gifts?

A. Ordinarily it is in very bad taste to display gifts of money. However, if there are a number of checks received, you may properly display them with the amounts concealed. This can be done by laying them under a pane of glass, one above the other, so that only the signatures are revealed — using an envelope to cover the amount of the top check.

Pastorless Congregation Searches for New Minister

Searching for a new pastor isn't as easy as hanging out a Help Wanted shingle.

So report members of the pulpit committee of St. John's United Church of Christ, 314 Evergreen, Arlington Heights. The congregation of some 470 persons has been without a full-time pastor since June 15 when Rev. J. G. Meiners resigned to become executive director of the Council of Churches, Milwaukee.

How does a church go about finding "the right man" for the job? This is no easy task, reports John W. Noerenberg, 1235 N. Race, Arlington Heights, council president at St. John's.

"We may not find a replacement until around Christmas," Noerenberg says.

MEMBER OF THE pulpit committee have contacted six or seven possible ministers, whose names were supplied by the Illinois synod of Evangelical and Reformed churches. "These men," informs Noerenberg, "had notified the synod that they were interested in coming into the Chicago area or were eager to leave their present position for some reason."

Finding the names just begins the process. The church exchanges information with the applicant and arranges a personal interview. The pulpit committee then narrows its selection down to one recommendation and invites that person to preach one Sunday at the church. The whole congregation then votes to accept or reject the committee's nomination.

What does a church look for in a minister? "We look for someone who strikes us as a person who will be well liked and will accomplish things for the church," states Noerenberg. "We want a strong man, who will help the church grow. He must be a good speaker and must attract and maintain interest.

"Since our parsonage is not modern, he must be willing to put up with that situation until it can be corrected.

"The pastor's family is also of importance," adds the council president. "Especially his wife, who must help direct activities of the church groups.

"Naturally the applicant must be satisfied with the salary we can offer, although many are often more concerned with the challenge involved," concluded Noerenberg.

UNTIL A FULL TIME pastor is hired, St. Johns, which observed its 50th anniversary in 1952, must get along with an interim pastor. Ed Heine, a graduate who has not been ordained, has been filling this position since Meiners' departure, and "has won the affection of the congregation."

However, synod rules forbid the hiring of the interim pastor on a full-time basis.

"An unordained pastor is limited since he cannot baptize or marry, although he can bury," informs Noerenberg. "He does make sick calls and contacts possible new members.

"A church the size of St. John's requires the attention of a full-time pastor to coordinate activities. The absence of such a pastor causes some neglect," added the president.

"The sooner we fill the position, the better," he ended.

Ridge Park–Sherwood

FROM RIDGE PARK

The Casey Gordons, 720 N. Kennicott, are back from a 2-week vacation to Kansas City, Mo., where they visited relatives.

Welcome back to Arlington Heights is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Corn and five children, 826 N. Kennicott. In 1952 they left here for Jamaica, B. W. I., where they have lived until they moved here two weeks ago. Jamaica is home to Mrs. Corn, however, she and the family are glad to be back here.

The H. Burt Meyers, 716 N. Ridge, spent a 5-week vacation in the west this summer. Three weeks were spent in a cabin at Estes Park, where they enjoyed swimming, hiking and fishing. Jean says she was especially proud of her 5-year-old, who caught seven trout in one day. While there, they drove to Denver to visit her family and they in turn came to Estes Park to visit the Meyers. Coming home they went through the Black Hills.

LAST WEEK Mr. and Mrs. William Bledsoe, 724 Fernandez, joined grammar school friends from Chippewa Falls for a vacation in Hayward, Wis., during which they said the fishing was especially good. On the heels of their vacation, his aunt, uncle and cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moore and daughter, of Tucson, Ariz. paid them a visit. The two families hadn't seen each other since 1949.

There was a block party for 26 people on the 800 block of Princeton last Saturday night. Meeting in the back yard of the Joe Moss home, everyone helped to initiate their new patio with a steak fry. Bringing their own steaks, with the trimmings in potluck style, there was dancing on the patio afterward.

The Lawrence Geislers, 816 N. Ridge, are finding out how much fun a vacation at home can be. Sunday they went down to the planatarium, where they had a front row seat for Tommy Bartlett's water show and firework display.

THE MANY cards the William Grohs have received from her parents, and sister and brother-in-law from the west are about convincing them that their next vacation will be covering all parts west.

The recent camping trip the Richard Platts took to Devil's Lake, Wis., was so successful that they are scanning catalogues for more camping equipment. Ruth had done some camping as a child, however it was a new experience for the rest of the family. While there, they took a trip to the Dells, where they saw the Indian pageant, and took the boat trip through the Dells.

The Clyde Hardens, 909 N. Salem, are back from a 2-week vacation to Iowa, where they visited friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Heinz, 906 N. Patton, report that her parents, the Charles Bergmans, have purchased a new home right down the street from them and are expected to move into it around the end of September.

LAST SATURDAY Patty Hillebrand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hillebrand, 817 N. Patton, celebrated her seventh birthday in a special way. Her father and aunt took Patty and several neighborhood friends to the Highland Park Tenthouse to see the production of "The Three Bears." With ice cream and cake to start them on their way to Highland Park the children agreed it was a delightful party. Wednesday relatives came out to honor her birthday.

Two weeks in W. Palm Beach, Fla., proved to be what the Richard P. Hosangs, 901 N. Patton, needed. They stayed at Sailfish center, where they had the choice of a lake, pool or ocean for their swimming. They also went reef fishing, but the biggest thrill was sail fishing. Mr. Hosang landed a kingfish. One reason they enjoy that part of Florida is because her folks live in the vicinity and it is a perfect place to combine a visit and a vacation.

Saturday evening guests of the William Hefferens, 811 N. Kennicott, were Judge and Mrs. William Weber. This week their houseguests are Mrs. Jane Hopkins and daughter, Judy, of Chicago. Mrs. Hopkins is recuperating from a coronary attack suffered earlier in the summer.

THE DOUGLAS R. Jenkins, 808 N. Patton, had a surprise visit from friends in Rockford last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. R. Bertrand and four children stopped. Mrs. Bertrand and Mrs. Jenkins went to camp together as children and hadn't seen each other in 17 years.

The Wilbert Kedrows, 906 N. Kaspar, spent a 2-week vacation camping on the shores of Lake Michigan. The first week was spent in Door County and the second in upper Michigan. They especially enjoyed camping at Indian lake, near Manistique. From there they went to Brimley park and to Sault Ste. Marie, where they took a boat trip through the American and Canadian locks.

Friends and neighbors of the John P. McNamaras, 924 N. Kaspar, extend sympathy in the loss of their new baby, born last week in St. Francis hopsital, Evanston. The McNamaras have four other children.

The Robert Walkers, 1106 W. Elm, went to Maplewood, N. J., last week, where they visited her parents and also stopped in Philadelphia to visit his folks. While in New Jersey they drove to Sparta to visit former neighbors.

DOUGLAS FULLER, son of the Henry J. Fullers, 836 N. Salem, invited several children to a picnic in his back yard last week. Next Tuesday Douglas starts kindergarten.

The Norman Walls, 936 N. Ridge, spent a 2-week vacation at home. One day they took the children to Fox Lake and stopped at Deer Haven on the way home, where Tommy was fascinated with feeding the deer.

Saturday night friends of the Francis Grahams, 927 N. Fernandez, had a farewell party for them at the home of the Harold Vetters, 931 N. Fernandez, attended by 18 guests. After a potluck supper, the group presented the Grahams with a luggage carrier, which will come in handy on their trip to Albuquerque, N. M. Because of Mrs. Graham's health, they moved to Albuquerque this week, and their neighbors miss them.

The Harry Kunbergers, 926 N. Kennicott, started their vacation with a visit with friends at Ft. Wayne, Ind., where it was fun country clubbing. Even the children enjoyed lunch by the pool. From there they went up to Commerce, Mich., where they visited Jean's brother and family. The highlight of the trip was going to Northland, near Commerce, to the tent theater to see Faye Emerson in "Tonight at 8:30."

Because the party on Ridge ave. was such a success last year, the neighbors in the 800 block decided to have another one last Saturday night. It was held in the garage of the John F. Miller home, 836 N. Ridge, and everyone chipped in foodwise as well as decorating the garage. Those who came were the Melbert Andersons, Robert Helfers, Fenton Lalors, Richard Balkins, Conrad Neumanns, Robert Blizzards, James Crosbys and their guests, the Ed Burns, of Wyanndot, Mich. There were games and dancing, with punch, sandwiches and coffee served later in the evening.

FROM SHERWOOD

When the D. F. Houses couldn't sail their 17 foot motor boat at Lake of the Ozarks because of the floods, they headed for Wisconsin. They took a cabin on Lake Nokomis, near Tomahawk, and were able to take their boat out on the lake as much as they liked. All of them enjoyed the boat, especially Rob, as this was somewhat of a farewell present to him as well as a vacation He is leaving soon for Delafield, Wis., to enter St. John Military academy.

James Colvin took his son, Steve, on a fishing trip to Grand Lake, Colo., recently to end the summer in fine style. Mrs. Colvin has had Mrs. Francis Rudkin from New York City as a guest for 2½ weeks. (A

'Itinerant' Peddler Is Thing of Past

The day of the itinerant peddler passed long ago and sidewalk salesmen must be prepared to demonstrate their solid business connections—or else.

Irving M. Mellman of Skokie learned what the "or else" means Friday when he was selling watches in Pioneer park. An Arlington Heights police officer stopped him, asked for his solicitor's license and hauled him to the station when he failed to produce one.

The watches were being sold on a "no money down and $3 a week" plan, according to the officer. They were sold in several local industrial plants, he added. Mellman's employer, Art Credit Jewelers, Chicago, posted a $25 bond for him. A court appearance is set for Wednesday. (AF

Whether you're building or buying a home...let us help you!

Chances are, if you're like most people, the two important things you need to get a home are money for a down payment and a loan to make up the difference. Our association specializes in helping you get both these things. In fact, there's no more ideal place you could go for home financing help. And here's why:

1. We know more about home loans because we make more of them—last year, one out of every three home loans in the U. S. was arranged by associations like ours.

2. You get friendly understanding and attention to detail from our staff which is experienced in home financing.

3. You repay your loan just like rent. A single monthly repayment is usually set up to include principal, interest and property taxes.

4. While you're saving for the down payment, your money earns excellent returns, and is insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, an agency of the U. S. Government.

Library Offers Exciting New Books for Children

Children around the World is a beautifully illustrated book about children of Europe, Japan, Korea, the Far East, Canada, and Mexico. Miriam Troop, the author, traveled in the countries represented making sketches and talking with the children whose pictures appear. She was especially impressed with the fact that the qualities of trust, wonder, curiosity, and kindness are common to children of all nationalities. Children of fourth through eighth grade will find much enjoyment in this book.

For children of kindergarten and first grade, Literary Guild offers three books: Small One by Zhenya Gay, The Picnic by James Daugherty, and Freddy the Curious Cat by Grace Paull.

SMALL ONE WAS A baby cottontail rabbit who had been taught to behave by his mother; but when his mother went away, he got into the same kind of trouble children often experience when they do not mind their parents.

The Picnic describes the exciting time Mr. and Mrs. Moses Merryman Mouse and their children, Cheddar, Limburger, and Little Miss Swiss had one sunny afternoon when they went for a picnic. Death-defying adventures follow their encounter with a lion, but all ends happily.

Freddy the Curious Cat takes his young readers along with him as he satisfies his curiosity about all the delightful things to be found in a summer garden. The pictures are fascinating, and the story is simple enough for a very small child.

DAN THE WEATHERMAN, written by Jene Barr and illustrated by P. J. Hoff, acquaints the youngest readers with rain, wind, thunder, and the rainbow and tells how the farmer, truck driver, pilot, and people in general feel about weather.

In the story Happy Acres, Bianca Bradbury traces the changes in life on a particular farm which justify changing its name from Happy Acres to Lazy Acres and then to Hungry Acres and finally back to Happy Acres. This charming story impresses upon the young mind the value of work.

A dramatic introduction to geology may be found in Rocks and Rain and the Rays of the Sun by William Fox, a conservation specialist with the U. S. Soil Conservation Service. Mr. Fox presents nature as the oldest factory there is. The raw material it uses is rock, and the workers are raindrops and the rays of the sun. The shop is all of the land in the world, and the product is soil. This book gives the answers to many of the questions about nature that young readers ask.

The many changes that are taking place in life in the villages in Africa because of improvements introduced by the white man are realistically described in the book Light in the Dark Forest by Charles R. Joy, an intimate friend of Dr. Albert Schweitzer. To the older natives the new ideas are strange and puzzling, but the younger people who have had the advantage of education are developing a far different outlook. (A Spending two weeks with Kay and Don Scherrer and children, Kathy, Donnie, Shiela and Diane, 4 N. Reuter, is Don's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Scherrer.

Spending two weeks in Greenville, Penn., were Dee and Bob Saxe and children, Ronald, Kenny, Roberta, and Jerry, 1407 W. Sigwalt, where they visited Bob's parents. Swimming was enjoyed by all. THE CHICAGO and North Western Railway telegraphers haven't yet gone out on strike but apparently one commuter is taking no chances and is getting used to alternate means of transportation. This horse occupied a metered parking space in front of a W. Campbell st. drygoods store last week. Police officer Maurice English, who took photo, noted that coin had been inserted into meter.

MRS. FRED ORTMAN, one of the coaches on the Palatine Redlegs, is shown receiving a gift from the team at the picnic honoring the minor league team.

Those Liver Dumplings — They're Good

They're wonderfully flavored and just a bit different . . . that's what makes Liver Dumplings rate the ribbon of recognition.

In years past, probably your mother or grandmother was noted for her famed dumplings . . . served with a tender pot-roast and savory gravy, these dumplings were unbeatable in flavor, texture and lightness.

However, Reba Staggs, meat expert, comments on the distinction of these Liver Dumplings. Ground pork shoulder and liver add the magic taste appeal to these diamonds of the dumpling field. Onion, nutmeg, and pepper add the other spicy flavors. To cook, the dumpling batter is dropped by tablespoonfuls into stock and allowed to simmer slowly for 10 minutes.

LIVER DUMPLINGS

½ pound pork shoulder
Water to cover
1 pound sliced liver
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
6 slices bread
1 large onion, chopped
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 eggs, beaten
½ teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon nutmeg
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1/3 cup stock

Cook pork shoulder until done; save stock. Lightly brown the sliced liver in lard or drippings in frying-pan. Remove liver and brown onion in the drippings. Drain. Grind cooked pork with liver; combine with bread and onion. Add chopped parsley, beaten egg, seasonings and 1/3 cup stock. Mix well. Bring stock to a boil. Drop dumplings from tablespoon into stock. Cover and allow to simmer slowly for 10 minutes. Yield: 6 to 8 servings. (SH

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB FRISK

MONDAY'S SPECTACULAR at Arlington Park, climaxing an unprecedented 49 day meeting, is more than just Chicago's traditional turf headliner. The $100,000 added Washington Handicap is thoroughbred racing's "Miracle Mile," richest and foremost race of its kind.

Each year the Labor Day event plays host to a brilliant assemblage of the sport's top-ranked handicap stars, treating the holiday throng to what has become usually the fastest, most exciting race of the summer season.

BEN LINDHEIMER

The Washington Handicap was inaugurated on July 5, 1926, as a major event for three-year-olds and up at one mile and one-quarter. By 1951, however, with the advent of so many other rich races at the same distance, much of the event's originally-intended appeal had faded.

That year Executive Director Ben Lindheimer changed the handicap distance to one mile. The race immediately lured the biggest field in the history of the event. One mile, Lindheimer believed, was racing's ideal distance, a race which demanded both speed and stamina—and one which made for bigger, more representative fields, since many of the quality runners who might otherwise have ducked the issue were the race at 1¼ miles, now ventured a try against the reigning handicap leaders.

"When $100,000 is set up as the purse," Lindheimer said explaining his change, "it is almost automatic that the race would be a mile and a quarter or better. That distance has been accepted, more or less, as the 'classic' distance for big awards. But we decided that since there never had been a richly-endowed race for such colorful thoroughbreds as Your Host, Olympia, and other sprint and middle-distance stars, that we should provide one."

FOR A LEAGUE in only its second year of operation the Paddock Classic Traveling loop, set to open Aug. 30, presents quite an array of area bowling talent.

The top five averages in the league—Tom Kouros, Al Walter, Casper DeWitz, Al Parkhurst, and Irv Hahnfeldt—would make up a team mark of 972, good enough to bowl in any league in the Chicago area. In addition, although limited to a 910 average last year, the league limit is 940 this season. Next year it is expected to run close to 960, or an average of 192 per man.

Although the league allows a bowler who rolls in the 175-180 bracket to compete, it is almost a foregone conclusion that no competitor in the PCTL will average under 180. Individuals who are considered sleepers this season, inasmuch as they are ready to improve their averages, are Hec Healy, Ernie Koche, Dick Bokelmann, and Bob Christensen. All have changed their style or bowling ball in the last year.

Five bowling establishments in this area have shown interest over becoming franchise houses in the PCTL. And the demand for representation continues to grow. This area can be proud of the growth and development of such a bowling loop, especially since it is being done by recruiting only local talent!

BASKETBALL AT Riverside-Brookfield will take on a new look this winter. The reason? Athletic director M. M. Fickas recently announced the hiring of four new cage coaches for the 1958-59 season, including a new head mentor.

Charles DeWild, who guided a tiny Fulton school to the first round of the "Sweet Sixteen" in Illinois cage ranks last winter, will head the R-B varsity. DeWild, whose Fulton teams won 116 games and lost only 25, will also act as varsity line coach and will teach physical education.

Last winter DeWild's Fulton five compiled a 24-4 ledger and gave state runner-up Rock Falls a good battle before bowing in the first round game of the Super Sectionals.

Riverside officials hope some of DeWild's winning formula at Fulton rubs off on the R-B candidates.

P. S.

Hinsdale and Maine are again rated as possessing strong elevens in the WSC, but don't count out Downers Grove this fall . . . Powerful frosh-sophs squads in the past two years should make Downers, usually a weak-sister in grid circles, a title threat this fall . . . Bob Gruber, former Maine star now with Holdredge of the Nebraska State League, recently rapped a game-winning homer in a 7-6 win over Grand Island . . . Gruber, who started out fast with Holdredge then tailed off, has been turning in a creditable performance in the Class D loop.

Gale Peregrin, 20-year-old righthander from Grayslake, hurled a no-hitter Aug. 18 for Palatka of the Florida State Class D league. Peregrin is with the Cincinnati organization.

James Thomson, 1017 N. Vail in Arlington, again will serve as head starter at Hawthorne Race Course whose 35-day Fall race meeting opens Sept. 2 . . . Thomson last year succeeded the late Reuben White as starter at Hawthorne and at Churchill Downs where he started the Kentucky Derby, carrying out both assignments with fine success . . . Mel Friend, a '58 grad of Arlington high, has been asked out for football at Carthage College . . . Michigan lost a good end when Aurora's Chuck Teuscher signed with the San Francisco Giants for a bonus . . . It's still a question where Charley Vaughn, the high-scoring prep from Tamms in basketball, will enroll this fall . . . At first he was headed for Bradley, then Dayton . . . Now, nobody knows . . . We hear they're recruiting basketball players in Seymour, Ind. . . . Apparently a Seymour banker is finding the parents jobs, then financing the move . . . He's already grabbed two of the finest players at a small school in Illinois . . . When that type of "professionalism" enters prep sports, we can only hope something is done—and done immediately . . . St. Louis University has done a good job grabbing some of Illinois' top prep cage talent, landing 6-7 Dave Leuchtefeld of Okawville and 6-6 Tom Book of Aviston.

Travelers Open Bi-State Slate

The Elmhurst Traveler football team will open its 1958 season on Sunday, Aug. 31, against the Aurora Clippers on the East High field in Aurora.

The Travelers have been working out since Aug. 3 to ready themselves for this game. Last year Aurora dealt Elmhurst their only defeat, 6-0.

SUNDAY'S CONTEST will open the Bi-State league slate for both clubs. Two new teams have been added to the circuit in Sheboygan and Manitowoc, Wis. Both are former members of the Wisconsin State League.

Coaching and Travelers this season will again be George Kulton and Jack Gezelle who have led them to two championships and a tie in the last three seasons. Al Dobbeck has also been added to the staff.

Next week a complete schedule will be published. (Sp

Big Weekend At O'Hare Oval

The biggest weekend of the 1958 auto racing season is coming up at O'Hare Stadium with championship classics highlighting two of the three programs on tap. Gates open nightly at 6 p.m. and the first race is always at 8:30.

Action will be launched in a big way Friday night with the 100-lap Season Championship on tap for the new-late model stock cars. Many leading drivers are also entered from other tracks including Bill Van Allen of Chicago and Bud Koehler of Blue Island. An exciting demolition race is also on the card.

THE NEW-LATE models and O'Hare's daredevil Cadets will take part in what will probably be their last combined program of the season on Saturday night as the Cadets prepare for their biggest show of the year.

This will be their 50-lap Season Title grind Sunday evening with no less than 40 cars slated to start. This will undoubtedly be the most slam-bang affair of this or any season. O'Hare's high-banked quarter-mile asphalt track is located on the west side of Mannheim rd., just south of Irving Park rd. (Sp

Season Tickets On Sale Sept. 2 At Arlington High

Reserved season tickets for four Arlington high school home games will go on sale Tuesday, Sept. 2, in the office of John Schaff, business manager at Arlington.

Season tickets are $5 for the attractive home schedule which includes tilts with Leyden, Glenbard, York for Homecoming, and a natural rival, Maine. The last game promises to be a sellout as the University of Michigan band will play that night, too.

This campaign's home schedule should have good weather as they are all early-season games. The last two games on the slate are on the road.

Fans are urged to pick up their season tickets at the business manager's office in the extreme southeast corner of Arlington high school. (Sp

Pony League All-Stars Top Phillies, 9-2

Thirty-four players saw action in a well-played Pony League All-Star game in Arlington with the All-Stars knocking off the champion Phillies, 9-2.

Errorless ball was played on both sides as the winners broke a one-all tie in the third with five big runs, then coasted to victory, adding a pair in the sixth and a single counter in the seventh.

VALENTI, ROBERTSON, Hosek, and McDonald shared duties for the winners while Nabb was tagged with the loss for Stu Fitz-Patrick's Phils.

Kelly rapped a homer and drove in three runs for the All-Stars while Gordon had three straight hits for the Phillies.

Hillcrest Club Opens Course With Tournament

Barrington Hillcrest Country club opened its new 18 hole golf course last Saturday with a "Mr. Average" invitational tournament. The tourney, based on the Calloway system, had a turnout of 150 linksmen and was climaxed by a buffet supper and the awarding of prizes.

The new course is operating on a semi-private basis with a new modern clubhouse with dining, cocktail, and banquet facilities slated to be ready for the grand opening on May 15, 1959.

Fees for the course have been set at $1 for nine holes and $2 for 18 holes.

ARLINGTON'S FIVE returning lettermen get together with the coaching staff to review plans for the pre-season practice sessions. Gridders Start Workouts, Cool Weather Aids Drills

by BOB FRISK

A crisp, cool morning greeted a host of football candidates at both Arlington and Prospect schools Monday as the squads initiated the 1958 campaign with the first of two-a-day practice sessions.

And it was a welcome change for the gridders.

In the past the weather for the first weeks of practice had been anything but conducive for football. Warm, humid weather had made the opening workouts more of a drudgery than an adquate conditioning program. But the weatherman cooperated this year.

COACHES "BUS" Ormsbee, Bob Scott, Maurice Ross, and Ted Wissen sent the varsity candidates through concentrated drills in an effort to get the squad off to a good start in its "physical fitness" program which occupies much of the time in the opening week of practice.

Lack of experience appears to be one of the main drawbacks on the varsity this fall although there are several promising non-letter winners ready to step into starting roles.

Key figures lost by graduation were All-Stater Jack Weber, a versatile end; All-Conference performers Greg Rose, Tom Grey, and Bob Mors; and Capt. Bob Creviston and halfback Howie Berg, who both earned honorable mention on the honor team.

THE FIVE LETTERMEN back for Ormsbee include guard and captain Dave Burden, who has recovered from a broken leg suffered in the Hinsdale game last year; Don Gerken, Bob Barbour, Al Sander, and Rich Bader.

Sander is a powerful-running fullback on offense who doubles as a linebacker on defense, and Barbour alternates at quarter back and in the defensive backfield. Bob was used more in a defensive role last fall, filling in for the injured Buren. Gerken plays tackle both ways, and Bader, who can run the 100 in 10 flat, operates at a flank.

Calisthentics and other basic drills took up the opening sessions for the varsity with the squad running through plays under the watchful eyes of the coaching staff.

OVER AT PROSPECT high coaches Bill Beckman and Bob Hoese got their sophomore candidates off to a good start with emphasis on fundamentals and conditioning in the initial sessions.

A large turnout of varsity hopefuls of the future greeted coaches Chuck Aldrich, Harold Henson, and Rusty Dowell as the frosh drew uniforms Monday and listened to instructions from the staff. (SP

'New' Boosters Face Crucial Holiday Series

by BOB FRISK

Webster defines a revival as a restoration or a renewed flourishing of something.

For Manager Lloyd Meyer of Black's Boosters the current revival of the locals is simply the end result of a combination of things which should have transpired earlier.

In other words, effective pitching combined with timely hitting and adequate fielding adds up to a winning ball club!

TO SAY the current rush of the Boosters is amazing is putting it lightly. A few weeks ago the team was not conceded a chance of going anywhere in the Greater Chicago Baseball League. Now, the locals are only 2½ games off the pace and still coming.

Sunday, to open a crucial holiday series, the Boosters host at Recreation Park and Monday, league-leading Kolski at 2:30 p.m. in a big Labor Day attraction, they take on the Chicago Vets, also at Recreation Park at 2:30.

BLACK'S HAS to keep winning and hope the leaders encounter some trouble from here on out. There's still hope for a high finish if the club keeps playing ball as they have in recent efforts.

The key individual behind the recent surge has been veteran right-hander Dick Bokelmann. In his last two starts Bokelmann has allowed only two earned runs and just six hits in 18 innings of work.

Sunday, Dick limited Moran Supply to four hits in an impressive 4-2 win at Recreation Park.

ARLINGTON pushed over two runs in the fourth with Dan Vittum's key hit sparking the rally, then tallied single counters in the fifth and seventh.

Meyer led off the fifth with a single to center on the first pitch, moved to second on Bill Sprincz's sacrifice and came in on George O'Brien's double to left. Ray Thonn, captain of the University of Illinois team last spring who was playing first base for Black's, drove in the final run with a sacrifice fly in the seventh.

Meyer and Dan Vittum each had two hits for the winners as Black's captured their eighth league win in 15 decisions.

Area's Top Bowlers Prepare For Second Annual Campaign

Paddock Classic Traveling League, the fastest kegling loop in the suburban area, will open the new season Saturday night, Aug. 30, at Des Plaines Bowling Lanes.

Competition will start for the six teams at 6:30 o'clock with all keglers on hand for benefit of photographers and fans. Opening night festivities will include a get-together immediately following the bowling for election of officers for the new season.

Many changes have come into being this year, the second season of operation for the loop. Team averages which started at 910 a year ago now, stand at 940. One-third of the 36-man membership of the league carries marks of 190 or better.

THE SEASON has been stretched to 36 weeks with position nights spaced throughout the competition. Normally there will be two teams at each of three houses each Saturday night, with competition always starting at 6:30.

New officers will be selected for the 1958-1959 season Saturday night. President will be elected, with the teams each nominating one man for the other three offices in the loop. When these three officers are then elected, the other three team representatives will form the rules committee.

Franchise fee for the year has been doubled to $200, increasing the prize fund. A few rules changes have been made, too, including determination of boundaries from where bowlers can be drawn.

LEAGUE BOWLERS must be selected in one of four ways: 1, He must be a resident of the immediate area served by Paddock Publications; or 2, the secondary area, both territories as per list provided in the league rules; 3, he can be a regular league bowler in any of the six franchise holding houses; 4, he can be an exception to any of the above three with unanimous consent of the seven officials of the league.

Six houses cooperating in the Paddock Classic Traveling League include Hi-Way at Palatine, Beverly at Arlington Hts., Gunnell's at Mt. Prospect, Jeffery at Wheeling and Des Plaines Bowling Lanes.

Complete schedule of the Paddock Classic can be found in an adjoining column. Pocket schedules will be available to anyone interested at all of the six houses starting next week. (Sp

They Made It Possible

PADDOCK CLASSIC Traveling League will initiate its second season Saturday night at Des Plaines, with more hours of work by Al Walter, Tom Kouros and John Ribando going into maintaining the original purpose of the loop. These three are to be commended for establishing a league where top notch bowlers of the area can bowl against like opposition all season long without having to travel into Chicago one or two nights a week.

Two greatest benefits of the loop have been to provide the 36 bowlers with an opportunity to improve themselves against the best in the area, plus create a goal for younger bowlers to shoot for as they increase their averages.

The future of the loop is assured, though it is going to take a constant surveillance on the part of league officers to keep the league local, rather than import "city slicker bowlers" as the team standards are raised. Walter, Kouros and Ribando have given the loop an extraordinary start, and it will be up to the new officers to continue the objects of the league.

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

FOOTBALL PRACTICE opened Monday in high schools throughout Illinois following the rules of the Illinois High School Association. Boys must practice 15 days before participating in a game or scrimmage with another school which makes the weekend of September 12-13 the opening of playing schedules. Most schools of this area start off with 2-a-day workouts until the coaches become involved in teachers meetings later in the week. Over Labor Day weekend the coaches get in some good long workouts for the boys, knowing that time will be more restricted when classes start September 2, the opening date for practically all the suburban school systems. Players must have physical exams to play football or another sport in Illinois and most schools had this out of the way prior to last Monday's opening so there would be no delay. Football practice starting before school opens and before and through Labor Day cuts into the vacation possibilities for many families and wrecks havoc with the caddy situation at many golf courses.

There are 8 changes in the high school football rules considered as major alterations. Most of them are actually minor and will not be noticed by the average fan who watches the prep athletes play. Rules interpretation meetings will be held all over the state prior to the opening of the season and these and other rules will be discussed by experts for the coaches of their area. Here are the rules changes for 1958:

(1) After a foul, Captain must declare his choice of options before a time-out can be granted. (2) On a snap, the ball becomes alive when the snap begins even though the snap might be illegal. (3) An injured player for whom a time-out has been granted or for whose benefit the ready-for-play signal is delayed, must be removed for at least one down. (4) Clock is started with the snap in all cases where a time-out is charged to a team. (5) After a fair catch, team may move the ball to any position on the proper yardline, regardless of whether the ball is snapped or free-kicked. (6) it is an illegal pass (not pass interference) if an ineligible player who is legally beyond the neutral zone, muffs, bats or catches a forward pass. (7) Rule requiring the interior linemen to remain in their positions after having a hand on or near the ground has been clarified and slightly liberalized. (8) Conference between coach and player during a charged time-out may occur on the field, within five yards of the side line.

LITTLE LEAGUE BASEBALL continues to have a phenomenal growth with an increase of 360 leagues and 72,000 boys the past year which is the 20th since the movement started. Little League has had a great effect on high school baseball with an increase from 5,236 schools in 1946 to 12,374 in 1956. Baseball in 10 years moved from 4th to 2nd as a high school sport, right behind basketball, with 62.2% of all schools participating. When this year's tournament series started in Little League with the goal the world championship, there were 56,000 boys entering tournament play handled by 8,000 managers and coaches.

All this would seem to be a great boon to the big leagues in the development of talent which has definitely fallen off in quality in more recent years. The fact of the matter is that after 20 years of Little League ball only 2 established major leaguers, Bob Turley of the Yankees and Joey Jay of the Braves, got their start in Little League ball.

According to those who have investigated the matter, Little League has had a reverse effect. Little League encourages boys to go into sports and later they take up some other sport with more crowd appeal. While more play baseball in high school, there is a big gap in drop outs from the sport between high school and college. Baseball fans in the majority are persons over 40 years of age. Between 20 and 40 the tendency is to get away from the game according to Seymour Siwoff, national baseball statistician. The really outstanding athlete who might make the big leagues is good at football, basketball, and track which have longer seasons and more crowd appeal at the college level.

Monterrey, Mexico, who walloped Kankakee, Illinois 10-1 in the championship game, has one league in a city of 500,000 population. In United States a city of that size would have 30 leagues with each league fielding a tournament team. The rules makers are going to break up Monterrey next year. They are also going to change a few rules which are needed due to the improved quality of championship play. The pitchers mound will be moved back from 44 to 46 feet, the plate will be widened from 14 to 17 inches the same as major leagues, and the outfield fences will be moved back from 175 to 200 feet.

THIS PAST WEEK a representative of the State of Illinois checking on child labor lowered the boom on caddying at Inverness by requiring work permit age certificates for all caddies at the club. This means that boys under 14 may not caddy and those between 14 and 16 must have proof of age, and work under certain restrictions of hours, etc. The interpretation of the child labor law which makes work on farms legal but makes it illegal even for a father to have his son carry his clubs while he plays, if under 14, is certainly a product of political pressure.

The child labor law was designed to stop factory and other dangerous and unhealthful work for children. For a boy to carry golf clubs in a leisurely fashion (as slow as a golf game is played) in the open air in healthful surroundings should be encouraged rather than discouraged.

We can see why spotting pins in a bowling alley late hours on school nights is banned for those under 16 but we cannot see caddying in that class and it is certainly not as tiring as working on a farm. If a boy plays golf he carries his own clubs. It is less work to carry clubs for another and not play. Is Little League baseball, delivery of papers at early hours in the morning, and other activities of this type to be preferred to playing golf or carrying golf clubs? We think the people at the state level in the department of women's and children's labor and our legislators at Springfield should be made aware of the fact that another look is needed at our child labor laws and their interpretation.

Bradley's Stone Predicts Winning Grid Campaign

by BOB FRISK

(This is the first in a series of articles discussing the 1958 football prospects for colleges and universities in the state of Illinois.)

"If we were to play today, I could only depend on 15 or 16 boys."

That's the way Coach Billy Stone looks at his 1958 Bradley Braves.

But Stone is not as pessimistic as he sounds. In fact, he anticipates another winning campaign for Bradley which opens its slate against Iowa State Teachers at Cedar Falls, Ia., Sept. 13.

THE FORMER Chicago Bears' star was encouraged by the spring practice sessions and with 14 lettermen, at least one at every position, and some talented returning numeral winners and incoming frosh, Bradley could improve on 1957's 6-2-1 record.

Depth again provides a problem for Stone, especially in the backfield where there is a noticeable lack of experience. The graduation loss of three possible starting halfbacks and a starting fullback left a large hole in the ball-carrying forces.

The quarterback situation is in capable hands, however, with both Johnny Giangorgi from Highwood, Ill. and Bob Rousey from Lawrenceville back. Combined, the duo completed 66 passes last fall for 1031 yards and six touchdowns.

Probable halfback starters for the Braves are Jim Summers, Arlington grad in 1956, and Scotty Sullivan from Peoria. Summers, who teamed with All-Stater Johnny Sujack to give Arlington one of its best halfback combinations in years, in '56 carried the ball 12 times last year for 43 yards and one touchdown.

At fullback Stone is counting on Joe Chamberlain, another Peoria product.

THE LINE is equipped with several experienced performers, headed by end Dennis Barry of Chicago who has earned three major letters; center Don Heins from Hampton, Ia.; tackle Harry Jacobs from Canton, Ill.; and guards Bob Wede from Clinton, Ia., and Dick Weidner from Libertyville.

Listed among the most promising freshmen, should they enroll at Bradley as expected, are Greg Rose, 6-0, 195 pound center from Arlington, and Tony Wood, 6-0, 190 pound end from Libertyville. Freshmen are eligible for varsity competition at Bradley.

Red Sox Gain Playoff Win In Palatine

Winding up the Palatine Little League season, the Yankees and Athletics settled their tie game with a win for the A's, 11-8, in the American division.

Then the Indians took the Red Sox, 12-6, to tie up these two clubs for first place. In the playoff the second half title went to the Red Sox, 9-3, over the Indians.

The final championship game was played on Sunday afternoon between first half champs, the White Sox, and the Red Sox with the latter winning, 5-2.

Cleaners Whips Insurance Team In Scratch Play

L-Nor Cleaners continued its winning ways in the scratch league as they maintained their first place position by beating Griffith Insurance in a lamplighter's duel 4½ - 2½. Playing the last two holes in semi-darkness, Don Hager led the victors with a 38 while Len Arnold and Dick Burkett were close behind with 39. In fact, it was so dark in the Len Arnold — Al Griffith match that both fellows called a truce at the ninth tee. The last hole was played strictly by radar. Incidently, league play has been extended into the first two weeks of September. It is planned to equip each foursome with a high-powered flashlight!

With Dan Musser shooting an even par 35 and Dave Borgardt 38, Lohrs Pharmacy moved a little closer to the leaders as they trounced Arlington Pharmacy 6½ — ½. Gordon Otto managed to avert the whitewash by shooting 38 to get the losers only ½ point.

ALSO PICKING up some ground was Peterson Floor Tile as they easily beat Flaherty Jewelers 6 — 1 to take over third place. C. Peterson, playing as five man, had his big night as he won his match and also got low gross point with a 38. Brune Waara also aided the victory with a 39.

In last Sunday's all day outing at Diamond Country Club, Len Arnold led the men in the morning 18 hole round by shooting a one over par 72. Jim Neubauer had second low gross with a 76.

In the afternoon, Len's wife, Arlene, took over by tying for low gross in the two ball mixed foursome by teaming up with Dick Burkett for a 45. Martha Keane and Bud McKaig were the other low gross winners. The day's activities ended with a dinner and prizes for all.

The event was televised over WGN-TV and sponsored by Oak Park Federal Savings.

Moler's Clinches Top Position At Mt. Prospect

At the end of play, August 19th Moler's Barber Shop was certain of at least tying for first place in the Tuesday Twilight League at Mt. Prospect.

Going into the final night's play with a 10 point lead, the worst they could do if they lost all matches for the night would be a tie. With winners cups going to each team winner on only the first three teams, the big fight continued for second and third spots between Licht's Paint Store, Hank's Pure Oil and Mt. Prospect Bowling Lanes separated by only 1½ points. More important, Hank's Pure Oil dropped from second to third this week and are only 1/6 of a point ahead of Mt. Prospect Bowling Lanes.

KRUSE'S SCHLITZ continued its rise moving up to sixth place from their last place position just four weeks ago.

Roselle Ladies

The Roselle Ladies Golf League is swiftly drawing to a close, with only three weeks more to play. Last week Bill's Barber Shop, Roselle Bank, and Midwest Folding took most of the points from the three highest teams and the team standings could change drastically in the next three weeks. Ellen Hedstrom won the prize for low putts.

Plans are being made for a luncheon which will be held the week after the close of the season. At the luncheon prizes will be awarded to winners. (Sp

JUST DOGS

by DAVE TERRILL

Obedience Trial

Most everyone in the obedience trial field will be headed towards Arlington Heights this coming Sunday, Aug. 31, for the first annual A.K.C. licensed obedience trial to be held by the Northwest Obedience club, Inc.

Starting at 9 a.m., the event will take place at the Prospect high school field house on Foundry rd., where 225 entries in the various classes of obedience will go through their paces. Dogs have been entered from many surrounding states, including Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, plus many from Illinois.

Of general interest is the fact that the novice A class, because of the size of the entry in this event, will be divided into two groups each with an individual judge. All other classes have had a number of entries, including the tracking tests, which, although not held at the same location the day of the trial, has attracted nine dogs for this very specialized type of obedience work.

Extras

"From Cause to Effect" is the title of a leaflet offered by the Humane Society of the United States to those owning female dogs or cats. The folder explains that the uncontrolled breeding of puppies and kittens has resulted in an enormous nationwide surplus of animals. The Society says that even those who find homes for their litters of kittens or puppies contribute to the condition that causes more than 40 million cats and dogs to become excess baggage every year.

The folder may be obtained free from the Humane Society of the United States, Washington 4, D.C.

"Dog Days"

The generally "mild" summer enjoyed by the country to-date should not keep the dog owner from taking steps to protect his dog from the heat.

Check the dog house for ventilation. If it can be screened, so much the better. Keep plenty of fresh water on hand for the dog. Most dogs will cut down on their eating during very hot weather, so don't be alarmed if your dog turns up his nose once in a while at a dish of his favorite food.

Also, remember, when you get hot and bothered from the heat so perhaps does "Bosco." A simple rule to follow is to leave the dog alone in extremely hot weather. Don't force him to play or exercise. He likes to take it easy just like you.

Barks and Bays

The obedience trial in the area this weekend brings to mind that a top obedience dog "Prince Tom III U.D." owned by Tom Clute, Adrian, Mich., bought as a pet for $25, won the 1956 national cocker field championship.

Three Teams Rate Chance for Crown In Monday League

The Kirchhoff Insurance team leads the Monday Night league by a scant 2½ points with only one more night of play. Illinois Range, who was in first place for a good part of the season, is in second, 2 points ahead of the Van Driel Drug Team in third. Any one of the first three teams can still wind up in first, and it is virtually impossible for them to end up any worse than third.

Birdies were plentiful again August 18, with the following being scored:

Hawley Sparks Leaders In St. James Action

Encouraged by their showing in the Paddock Tournament, the Lauterburg & Oehler team of the St. James league pulled down Rapp's Restaurant, who had usurped first place for a week, while the L & O boys were resting up for the tournament. With the chips down the L & O team did not lose a match. Playing very deliberately, despite falling rain and soaked greens, Bud Hawley shot his low game of the season, 42 scratch and 32 net, to set the pace for the winners. With Ted Guttenberger shooting a 29 net, as alternate, to take a point for low individual net, Rapp's Restaurant was able to garner a point and a half to tie for second place.

L'Nor Cleaners turned back Glueckert's Lounge 4 — 2 to earn a second place tie. Kemp's net of 33 led the winners, while Alm led the losers with a 38 scratch.

DESPITE showers and soaked greens the scores for the night were a little better than average. Jim Murphy, like Bud Hawley, also had his best night of the season, shooting a 38 scratch and 30 net. Either Murphy and Hawley have to be classed as "Mudders" or the season opened too soon for them. They will have to be watched next week in the two-ball foursome and in the annual tournament.

All members are urged to be sure that Barney Malburg has their reservation for both the tournament and the dinner on Sept. 6 at Chevy Chase Country Club. Tee-off time, 10:30 a.m., Dinner at 6:30 p.m. All awards for the season and the tournaments will be made at the dinner.

Town and Country Wins Rob Roy Ladies Crown

August 21st was the final day of team play in the Rob Roy Ladies Golf League. The final standings found Town & Country firmly in the trophy spot; in fact they never moved out of the lead position after June 5th. Members of the winning team who will also receive trophies include: Capt. F. Fassett, L. Baird, B. Boylan, B. McPherson, and F. Nordlof. Thursday, August 28th, the league will have a two-ball foursome. The closing luncheon will follow at the clubhouse with election of officers and distribution of prizes.

R. Kester's 37 net selped Keefer's take 4½ points from the leaders, but this wasn't enough to change either team's standings. Webber's knocked Arlington Pharmacy into a fourth place tie when I. Pinkos chalked up a 36 net to lead them to a 5½ point win. Although Des Plaines Liquors' V. Alexander's 41 saved the net point, Prairie Lee gathered 5½ points from them to move up a notch in the standings.

G. MILLER'S 36 net sparked Spiegler's into a tie for fourth when they took six points from Morava. O'Hare's D. Wahl carded a 34 net to help them gather 5½ points from Senne's. Hagenbring's Capt. E. Schober's 40 net gave them the chance to halve their match with Heights Liquors.

The ability to sink approach shots was demonstrated this week by M. Burchard on Hole No. 5,

Black's Adds Cushion to Lead In AH Twilight

Black's Memorial routed the Mt. Prospect Country club team 8-4 to give some cushion to their lead in the Arlington Heights Twilight Golf league. Driving Range Gains Ground At Rob Roy Elston Driving Range gained ground in their battle to stay in first place in the Rob Roy Tuesday night golf league by defeating Ray Statz and Associates, 4-3, in a hotly-contested battle last Tuesday evening.

Stan Fill was the only player to shoot a par round by carding a 35 on the front nine. However, this was not enough to keep his team, second place Hildebrand's, from going down to defeat at the hands of Jacobs Hardware, 5-2.

Joe DiMichele, No. 4 man for the Hardware team, shot a fine round of 39-9 for a net 30. Hap Procunier, also a No. 4 man, shot an identical score, 39-9-30 to lead Borchardt's Restaurant to a 6-1 victory over C. P. Flooring on the front nine.

PADDOCK PUBLICATIONS will sponsor its second Suburban Problems Clinic Saturday, October 11 in Arlington high school. Congratulating Stuart R. Paddock, president of the 13-newspaper chain, on the annual community service project is Ira W. Cole (center), dean of Medill School of Journalism, Northwestern university. At right is Dr. Curtis D. Face the 'Facts' Of College Finance

In spite of a record enrollment, colleges are sailing troubled financial waters, mainly because service, not profit, is their goal.

Colleges are less concerned with getting money out of a customer's pocket than with putting knowledge into his head, and they're determined to hold that aim even if it bankrupts them. It might, too, since they currently foot most of the bill.

PRIVATE SCHOOLS PAY an average of 45 per cent of each undergraduate's expenses; state colleges pay about 82 per cent.

A committee appointed by President Eisenhower to investigate the situation found that teachers are stuck with most of the deficit. By working for disgracefully low wages, they "donate" $800 million a year to their students. This is over $3,500 per teacher. The committee reported that the teachers "are subsidizing the education of their students, and in some cases the luxuries of students' families, by an amount which is more than double the grand total of alumni gifts, corporate gifts, and endowment income of all colleges and universities combined."

To solve this problem, and keep the colleges on their feet, many plans have been put forth - long-term student loans, more or fewer scholarships, tax exemptions for students. There is much pro and con discussion of these plans, but it is generally agreed that the prime need of schools is more vigorous support from students - past, present, and future.

FEW STUDENTS CAN pay for an education while they're getting it. If tuitions were raised to meet expenses, only the richest - and not necessarily the best - scholars would survive. Therefore, colleges quietly make up the difference, and hope to be remembered when students emerge from their lean years. Unfortunately, it doesn't work out that way.

Roughly 20 per cent of today's alumni make regular contributions to their Alma Mater; 80 per cent do not. Of this 80 per cent, many are not aware of the facts, some cannot afford to give, while most just don't want to for a variety of reasons. (BB

Restrain Skokie From Halting Construction

A temporary injunction restraining Skokie from interfering with construction of four stores and a parking lot at 4036 Dempster in the village has been issued by Superior Judge Henry G. Hershenson.

The injunction is effective until the village zoning board of appeals hears and determines an appeal challenging the issuance of a building permit for construction of the $250,000 building project. (B-12

Mail Box Thefts Leader On Postal Crime List

Thefts of mail from householders' mailboxes again is at the top of the list of postal crimes, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield said today.

Chief Postal Inspector David H. Stephens reported to Summerfield that postal inspectors caused 7495 arrests for mail crimes in the 1958 fiscal year, ended this past June.

A TOTAL OF 7,401 convictions —98.7 per cent — were obtained in cases taken to trial.

"This high conviction rate," Summerfield commented, "demonstrates how thoroughly postal inspectors investigate a case before they cause an arrest, and how effectively they operate when they find there is a violation of postal laws."

Postal statutes most often violated last fiscal year were those involving thefts from mail receptacles, particularly home mailboxes. There were 3,835 arrests in this category in fiscal 1958, compared with 3,287 the previous '57 fiscal year.

STEPHENS' REPORT revealed growing numbers of criminals are victimizing householders in thefts from the home boxes. In an increasing number of cases, he noted, these criminals are dope addicts after money to buy drugs.

Lone operators or gangs of such thieves sometimes will ransack many mail boxes in an entire neighborhood, particularly where there are large apartment developments that have mailboxes clustered together in the lobbies.

Those who receive regular government allotment or pension checks are often victimized, and their checks stolen, forged and cashed. Ultimately, they get their money, but there are often delays which involve hardship.

SEVERAL factors have produced more thefts from home mail boxes in recent years. In addition to the millions of new homes and millions of persons added to pension lists, there has been a growing tendency among merchants and businessmen to cash checks easily, often without making certain of the identification of the person cashing the check, Stephens noted.

In addition to home mail box thefts, Stephens' report noted increases in mail frauds. At the top of the "best seller' list in the mail fraud fields, he noted, are such products as "miracle" weight reducers, "bee Jelly' supposed to have magical curative powers, fake cancer cures and similar worthless nostrums.

A total of 351 mail fraud arrests were brought about by inspectors in the 1958 fiscal year. Involved in these 351 arrests alone, Stephens estimated, were fraud schemes which bilked the public of an estimated $11,408,000.

EVEN THIS high total, however, does not reflect the full extent of mail fraud operations during the year. Many would-be mail fraud operators were encouraged to get out of their budding operations before they had gone far enough to be arrested, and after inspectors learned of their schemes, Stephens noted.

Another category of postal crimes which showed an increase was that involving illegal mailing of non-mailable matter. There have been particularly serious increases in mailings of "filth and obscenity,' Stephens noted, and the postal inspectors are giving high priority to investigations where obscene mailings are suspected.

Citizens can help in prosecutions of such crimes, Stephens observed, by reporting suspected violations promptly to their postmasters, who will see that postal inspectors are advised promptly.

MRS. RICHARD HOTZE of 546 Willow lane, Elk Grove Village, receives a $100 check from R. E. George, Pillsbury's supervisor for this area, and news of her forthcoming trip to the 10th Pillsbury Bake-Off to be held September 21, 22 and 23 in New York City.

Elk Grove Homemaker In Contest

Mrs. Richard Hotze of 546 Willow lane, Elk Grove Village, today was named one of the 100 finalists in Pillsbury's Grand National Bake-Off contest, to be held September 21, 22 and 23 in New York.

One of the 15 brides who will compete in the bake-off, Mrs. Hotze was chosen on the basis of a cookie recipe she submitted for contest judging earlier this year. Contest rules define a "bride" as a woman 19 to 30 years old married after March 1, 1956.

MRS. HOTZE WILL compete with 100 women and girls from all parts of the country for more than $100,000 in cash and appliance prizes. She will bake her prize recipe, along with other contestants, in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf Astoria which will be turned into the world's largest kitchen for the event.

Mrs. Hotze is eligible to win the top bake-off prize of $25,000, second grand prize of $5,000 or any of the special brides division prizes of $3,000, $1,000 and $500. In addition to her expense-paid trip to New York she will receive the range and mixer she uses during the Bake-Off.

News of her good fortune came today when R. E. George, Pillsbury supervisor for this area, called on Mrs. Hotze to present her with a $100 check and to arrange transportation and final plans for her trip to New York.

Prospect Metrologist To Speak

EDWIN PEARNE

Edwin M. Pearne, 415 W. Willow rd., Prospect Heights, well-known metrologist will present the first of 15 lectures from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 4, on metrology — the science of precision measurement.

The lectures by Pearne, associated with Empco Metrologists, will be presented by the St. Charles, Fox Valley section of the American Society for Quality Control.

The course will be held at the same time for 15 successive Thursdays. Registrations are invited from the northwestern and western suburbs as well as from Fox Valley towns.

Representatives of inspection equipment manufacturers will be present at each session to display the latest inspection and precision measurement equipment. Ample time will be provided for examination of the equipment, which will be used to demonstrate the principles concerned in the lecture.

Further information may be obtained from Pearne at CL 3-3878 or from Glenn S. Evenson, General Electric co., DeKalb.

Scooter Safety Program Slated

Cook county officials will launch a motor scooter and motor bike safety program in suburban high schools shortly after Labor Day.

In announcing that teams of Cook County Traffic Safety commission instructors will conduct the program, Daniel Ryan, county board president, said the instruction will be given only at schools requesting it. Suburban Cook county has 56 public and parochial high schools.

The program has the support of County Superintendent Noble J. Puffer, who said: "A start on this program is extremely important. You may find some bugs in it at the beginning, but they can be eliminated. The big thing is to get it underway."

THE PLAN ALSO is endorsed by Milan Plavsic, president of the Illinois Police Chiefs association and Park Forest police chief, who said: "Scooters and motor bikes are here to stay. The best thing we can do is try to educate the young riders and require them to pass safety tests."

Eight instructors in the county traffic safety commission's bicycle safety program will undergo scooter training and with the aid of scooter manufacturing representatives devise a program of instruction, said John McCleverty, the commission's executive secretary. The instruction will include safe riding demonstrations, movies, and safety tests.

Representatives of all suburban high schools will be invited to a sample testing of the new program which McCleverty hopes to hold within a week. (B8

Expert Says Auto Safety Checks Would Save 201 Lives in Illinois

Traffic accidents in Illinois would be reduced at least 10 per cent if motor vehicle inspection were made mandatory, according to E. H. Westwick of Chicago, traffic safety specialist of the Association of Casualty and Surety companies. Even this minimum reduction, he pointed out, in one year would save 201 lives and prevent 9,169 personal injuries in Illinois.

"Roads, drivers and vehicles are the controllable factors that cause almost every accident," Westwick noted. "Billions of dollars are being spent to improve roads and to educate drivers, but in most states little if anything is being done to assure the safety of vehicles."

MORE THAN 25 years of experience with periodic vehicle inspection has proved its safety value, Westwick said. During the first year of inspection in New Jersey, there was a 32 per cent drop in traffic fatalities. Before inspection programs were inaugurated in Texas and Utah, defective vehicles were involved in 15 per cent of the fatal accidents.

After inspection was started, the percentages dropped to 5 in Texas and 3 in Utah. Over a 20-year period, Pennsylvania accomplished a reduction of 50 per cent in the reported number of accidents caused by unsafe vehicles and a reduction of 65 per cent in the number of fatalities due to this cause.

Westwick said similar improvement can be shown for the other states which require periodic inspection of vehicles. Inspection officials and motor vehicle administrators, he said, feel that 20 per cent is a fair and conservative estimate of the average number of accidents in which unsafe vehicles are involved.

VERIFYING this estimate, he said, were results from the 1958 National Vehicle safety-check program in 34 non-inspection states, sponsored by the Inter-Industry Highway Safety committee. One out of every five vehicles checked needed maintenance attention. This was a voluntary program, and it is reasonable to assume owners of vehicles with obvious defects would not bother to have their cars checked.

"Various studies and opinion polls indicate that the public generally is overwhelmingly in favor of periodic inspection of motor vehicles," Westwick stated. "The views of licensed drivers on mandatory vehicle inspection were sought in two polls conducted in 1957, one among Illinois drivers by the Association of Casualty and Surety companies, with 65 per cent favoring inspection; the other by the American Institute of Public Opinion (Gallup Poll), with 74 per cent voting for inspection. A poll sponsored by the National Committee for Traffic Safety indicated that 97 per cent of those interviewed favored inspection.

"WERE WE living in Utopia, our own car and every car we would meet would be in a safe mechanical operating condition. However, since this is not the case, official periodic motor vehicle inspection programs have proved to be the most satisfactory means of insuring the maximum mechanical safety of vehicles on the public streets and highways. At least once each year — preferably twice each year for maximum safety — every motor vehicle, trailer and semi-trailer should officially be required to be inspected and aproved." (BB

Burn House Down On Fourth Try

Des Plaines officer Paul Carter's house finally burned completely to the ground Aug. 14, on the fourth try by suspected arsonists.

Carter had purchased the home located near E. River rd. and University ave. in the toll road right-of-way in April. He planned to move the frame building to a lot on Oakwood ave. and prepared it for occupancy for his wife and five small children.

The first fire which occurred two weeks after purchase April 22, burned the building practically beyond repair. Immediately following the first blaze, Carter said, "As far as I'm concerned, it was a case of arson."

On Aug. 10, Des Plaines fire department answered an alarm at Carter's house and extinguished a blaze.

Again on Aug. 13 at 8:30 p.m., same house, same location.

And, on Aug. 14 at 11:35 p.m., the house finally burned to the ground. (B-12

Hospital Provides Job Opportunity

by PAUL ZEHNER

Ordinarily we think of a hospital as a place where we go when we are sick. For many it is more than that. It's a livelihood, an opportunity to do interesting work near home. Most hospitals need two employees for every patient-bed.

Jobs in the hospital represent many kinds of work, including some very rewarding professional careers.

Trained nurses make up a little over one-fourth of the hospital staff. They must have intensive training of the highest type. That is why many hospitals maintain their own schools of nursing.

NURSES AIDES, who do many jobs to assist the nurse, such as bringing food to the patient, need only a very short training period. The hospital needs nearly as many nurses aides as trained nurses. Many of the registered nurses and nurses aides employed in a hospital are married women who combine their work with homemaking.

At least 10 per cent of the employees of the community hospital work on some phase of food preparation. Some are dieticians with special training. Most of them work where less skill is required. It takes a well organized staff to prepare the food for a 326 bed hospital.

Hospitals need good administrators and office workers. Out of the hospital staff of 600, at least 45 persons serve in this capacity. There are typists, stenographers and general office personnel.

We see first hand the beauty of a well-maintained hospital and grounds. A 326 bed hospital needs at least 35 engineering and maintenance persons. In cases of emergency, the hospital has its own power system which means that the important funetions of the hospital continue if the normal supply of power is temporarily lost.

WHO KEEPS the hospitals clean and the rooms sparkling? Under the heading "house-keeping" there are at least 50 employees. In this same class of employees are another 35 who work in the laundry and see to it that uniforms and linen are spic and span.

Such skilled persons as anesthetists, laboratory technicians, x-ray technicians, and physiotherapists are a part of every hospital. One out of eight people who work in the hospital have jobs of this type which require more or less professional training. (B8

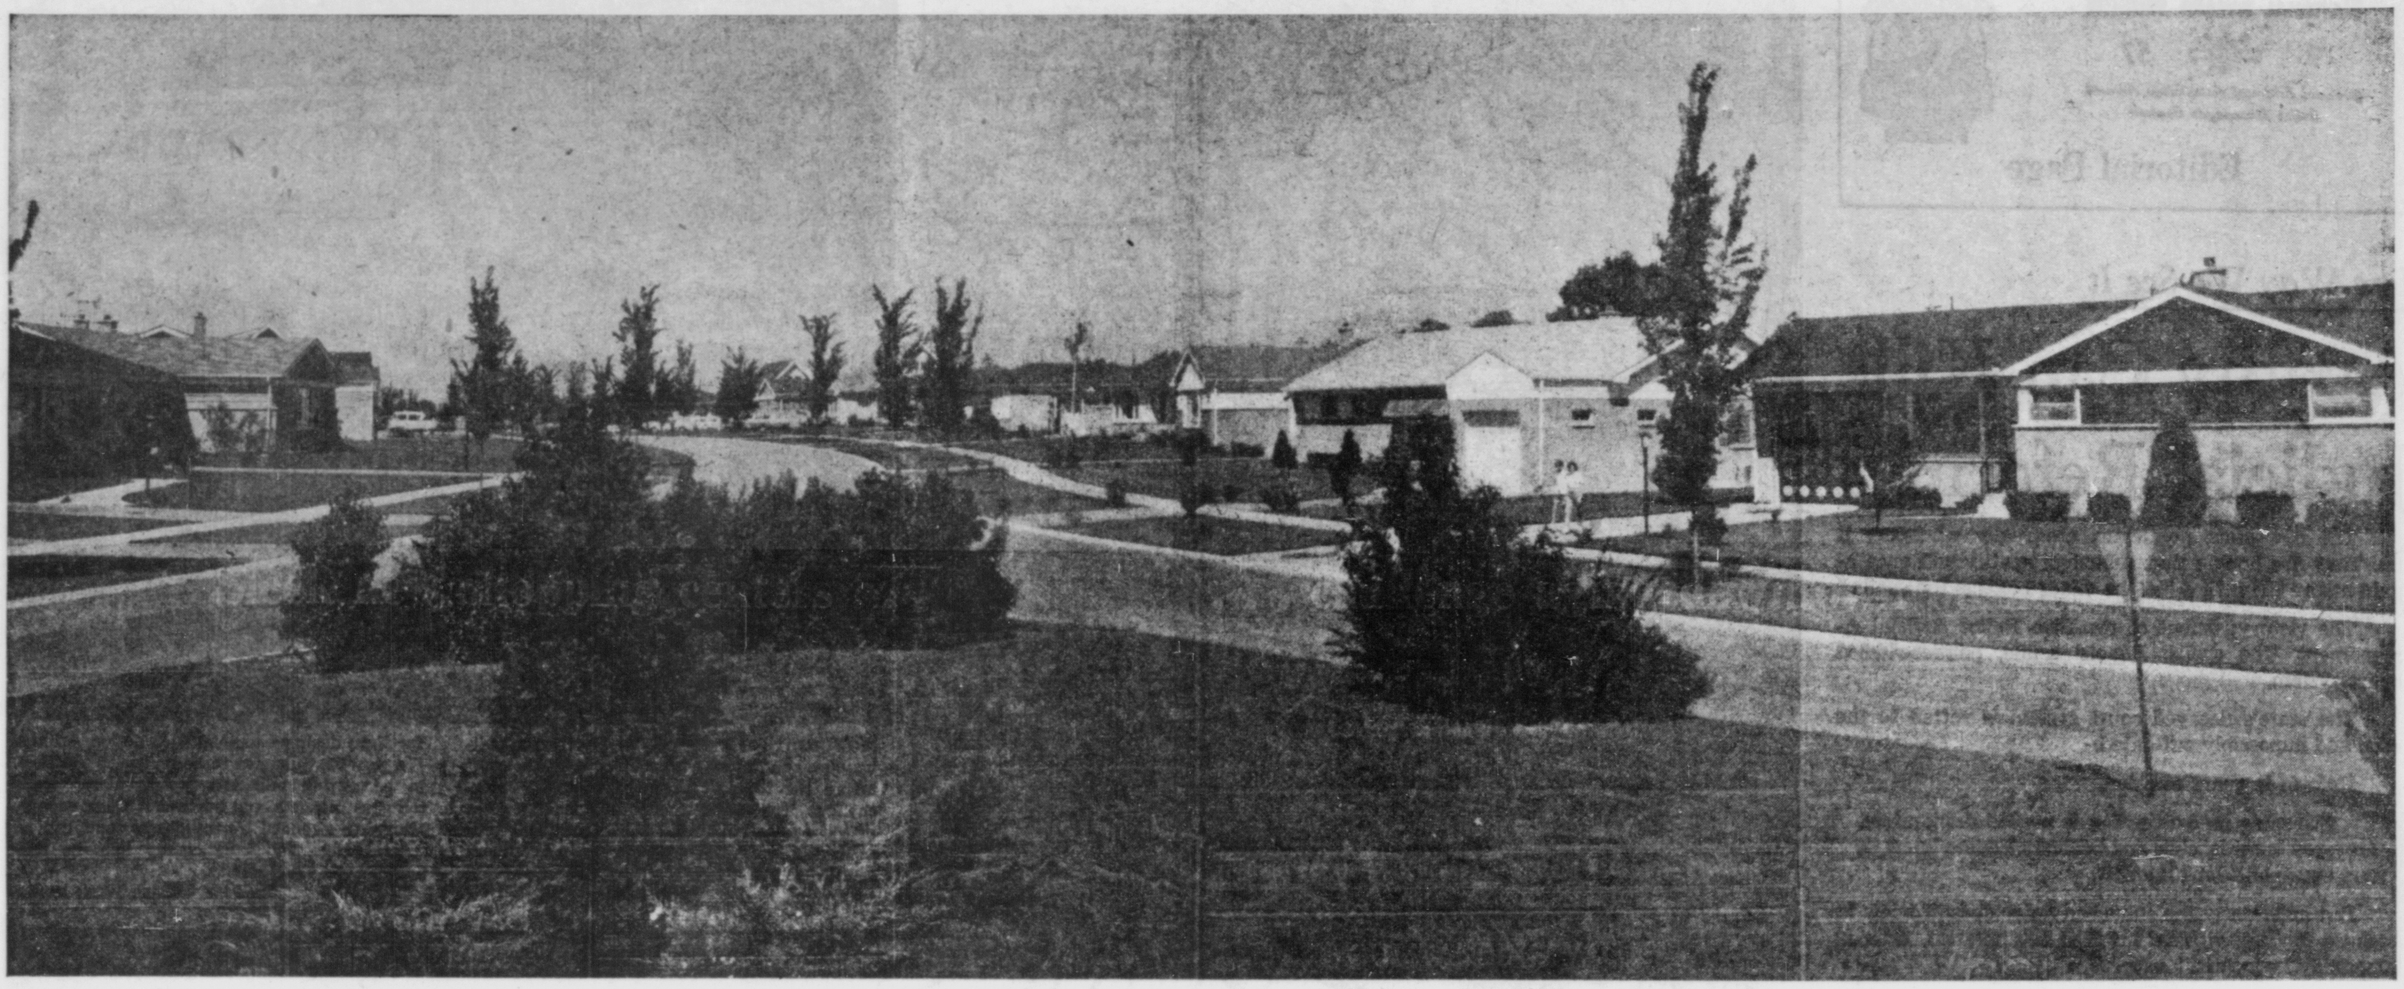
Flight to Suburbia — and the Downtown Dilemma



Westgate Subdivision in Arlington Heights . . typical of the New Suburbia revolutionizing shopping habits.

BY TOM BRENNAN

Visions of rows of empty shop windows with signs reading "For Lease or Rent" are haunting downtown merchants these days.

In all of America's major cities, downtown businessmen are anxious about the declining prestige and sales volume of the central shopping district.

The flight of the millions to the suburban fields and the consequent construction of sprawling shopping centers spell commercial gloom for the downtown, declare the gloomiest of the prophets. At best, they predict, the business districts will survive as collections of second-rate stores and small, swanky shops catering to the tasteful wants of the Lake Shore drive penthouse set.

Resourceful retailers from Portland, Me., to San Diego, Calif., are countering the trend with everything from "Frantic Friday" sales to baskets of flowers hung from downtown lampposts to construction of parking lots tunneling underground or reaching skyward.

If, as the downtowners moan, the suburbanites won't go into the city to shop, where do they spend those incomes, invariably cited as "above average"?

Do the suburbanites shop in their adopted communities or drive across country to the shopping center? Does today's suburban housewife follow the admonition to "shop in your hometown" and, if so, does she head downtown or to the shopping center that is a few blocks or a mile from the heart of town?

The answer to all three questions is "Yes," for shoppers today are as mobile and wide-ranging in their quest as the auto can make them. A woman may drive 20 miles from Palatine to Old Orchard for a new hat on Tuesday, head into downtown Palatine for a new hammer for her husband on Friday and load the family into the car for a trip to Arlington Market on Friday.

Faced with this mobility, the central business districts of the older suburban communities have the same problem—in miniature, of course—as do those in large cities.

The merchants long established in Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, and Palatine must compete for the consumer's dollar with a rapidly-increasing number of shopping centers. In the immediate postwar years, the downtowns of suburbia did not have to compete with the shopping centers, which are a late arrival in the northwest area. The merchants' business increased tremendously—without much effort on their part—on the heels of the great influx of newcomers.

In brief, then, downtown leaders in the older suburbs did not begin planning to meet the threat of competition until about two years ago and only a minor part of their plans have been put into effect to date.

What are the results of these efforts in Arlington Heights and what remains to be accomplished to enable the downtown to effectively compete with existing and proposing shopping centers?

Private capital has erected a half-block of new stores in the Dunton Court plaza, remodeled most store fronts and built five new buildings along Campbell st., added a half dozen new buildings to those along Northwest hwy. and spotted perhaps 10 small new structures on other streets, N. Dunton, Miner and S. Evergreen.

A combination of public and private funds has widened and put new vapor lamps on Campbell and S. Dunton and work is now well under way on widening and new lighting for all other downtown streets. Finally, an 80-stall municipal parking lot was completed and opened in time to serve the 1956 Christmas shopping trade.

"Spoiled" by the ease and convenience features of the shopping center, the shopper demands no less on his trip downtown. This means she wants streets free of traffic congestion, a free spot to park no more than a block from her destination and off the street rather than at the curb, attractive store exteriors and window displays and a broad selection of merchandise. One thing more: retail stores should be clustered togeether, not strung out for four blocks and separated by non-retail businesses such as service stations and wholesale houses.

The plans for the redevelopment of downtown Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect drafted by Evert Kincaid and Associates, urban planning consultants, are designed to satisfy these desires—to graft the proven advantages of the shopping center onto a sturdy but aging trunk, the established business district.

Here are the tentative suggestions of the consultants:

TRAFFIC CIRCULATION

To speed traffic into town and within it, two underpasses are proposed at State rd. and Sigwalt st., which would be extended eastward to connect with Foundry rd. The extension would also generate "cross-pull" between Arlington Market and the downtown. One of two alternate plans would create a pedestrian mall on Dunton and Campbell sts. to allow shoppers to circulate freely on foot. The alternate plan would leave in the streets.

PARKING

A chamber of commerce survey found that on a typical off-peak business day, over a third of the shoppers reported a loss of shopping time because of parking difficulties. Lost time averaged 6.8 minutes. Off-street parking facilities would be constructed on the perimeter of both north and south shopping districts, on pockets of land now blighted by older tumbledown homes or decrepit commercial buildings. For example, a parking lot would cover about two-thirds of the block bounded by Davis, Sigwalt, Evergreen and State rd.

STORE GROUPING AND APPEARANCE

Facelifting would modernize those buildings which now contrast sharply with new construction. Stores would be given a second front if they face a parking lot, replacing drab, cluttered back entrances. "Dead spots," non-retail businesses, would become retail stores and razing of outmoded structures would provide sites for new buildings. It is hoped that one building would house a department store. The chamber also disclosed that the most pressing need of the downtown, a need deemed most vital by 28 per cent of the persons interviewed, is a department store.

In moderninzing the appearance and layout of the stores, obtaining the cooperation of the store owners is of first importance.

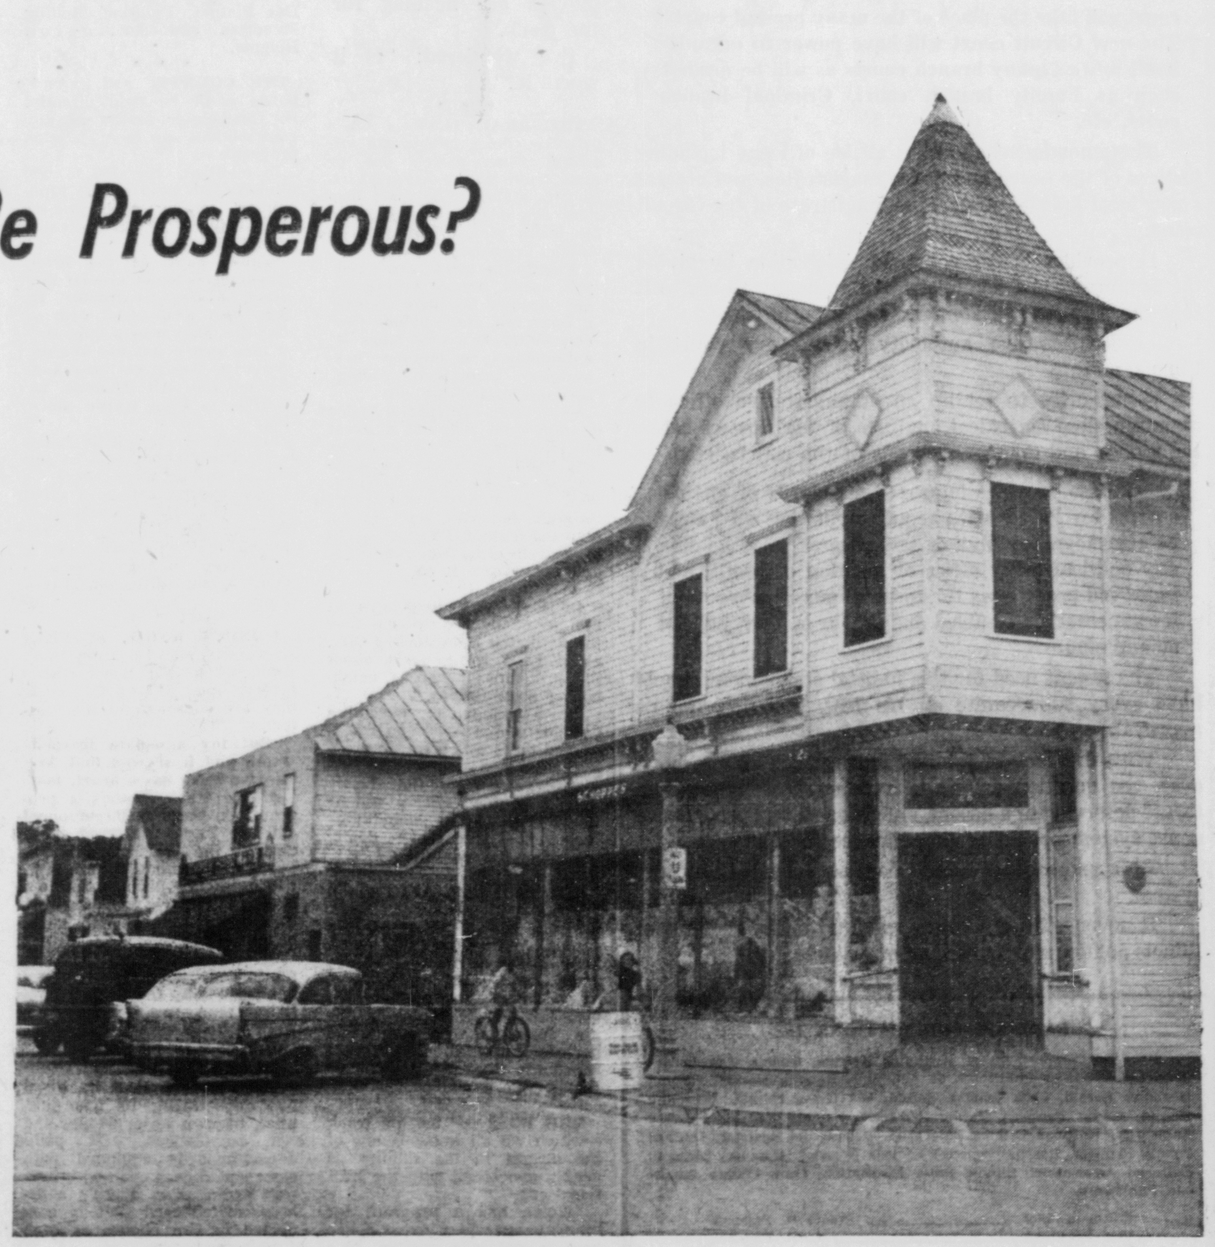
The owners, rather than the merchants who lease quarters, must be convinced that they will be making a wise investment.

Kincaid states that the residents of Arlington Heights have relatively high incomes, with the typical household spending $7,040 yearly for consumer goods and services, excluding mortgage payments. Yet retail sales per capital in the village for 1954 (the latest figures available) were below those of Barrington, Crystal Lake or Chicago. The obvious conclusion, points out Kincaid, is that residents do a large share of their shopping out of town.

The Kincaid plan-in-the-making is aimed at keeping those dollars at home by making the downtown the most attractive and convenient place to shop.

Can Both Be Prosperous?

Sleek new shopping centers . . .



. . . challenge aging downtown business districts.

The Way We See It

Apathy Can Kill Judicial Reform

The downstate politicians are really whooping it up. They are hoping that suburban apathy will once again assure them that "to the victor belongs the spoils."

The victory: defeat of the Blue Ballot Judicial Amendment. The spoils: Illinois' senile, politics-riddled court system.

The state's decayed court system is rotten to the core and impossibly out-dated.

Reform is years overdue.

Sweeping modernization is needed desperately. Lawyers know it, civic and business leaders know it, and even politicians know it.

But apparently the suburban voter doesn't know it, because few issues have inspired less interest, even in supposedy "educated" suburbs.

The downstaters are counting on this suburban indifference to kill the amendment, even though these same suburbanites would benefit most from its passage.

The judicial amendment is a complete revision and modernization of the judicial article of the Illinois state constitution of 1870 which establishes our court system. It was adopted by the Illinois legislature in 1957 and is being submitted to the voters at the November 4 general election. It will appear on the Blue Ballot.

It will be adopted only if it receives the approval of a majority of the voters voting at the election or of two-thirds of those voting on the question. Thus its success depends greatly on a large turnout from the Chicago area if downstate opposition is to be overcome.

The present court system is substantially the same as that created in 1848 when our population was about 800,000 (as compared with approximately 9 million today) and social and economic conditions were entirely different.

The result:

—a complicated system of courts poorly adapted to present needs;

—inefficient use of judicial personnel; and

—needless delay and expense in obtaining justice.

These defects can be remedied only by a constitutional amendment because of provisions in our constitution unchanged since 1848.

What will the judicial amendment accomplish?

It modernizes our archaic court system. The Supreme court will have increased representation from Cook county. There will be one Circuit court in each circuit and in Cook county, one Circuit court will take the place of the many present courts. The new Circuit court will have power to organize itself into as many branch courts as will be needed, such as Family branch court, Criminal branch court, etc.

The amendment abolishes all fee officers, including justices of the peace and police magistrates, and creates a new local judicial officer, the magistrate of the Circuit court.

It provides better court administration by giving the Supreme court administrative authority to see to it that the new court system runs efficiently with:

—administrative authority over every court in Illinois; and —authority to set up an administrative office to maintain close statistical analyses of the flow of cases, the money and manpower needs of the courts, etc.

It also provides improved standards of qualifications for judges with requirement that all judges be attorneys, prohibition against any judge holding any political party office or position of profit, and improved procedures for suspension and removal of incompetent or disabled judges, by a new judicial commission.

The urgent need for this judicial amendment should have every suburbanite on his feet, hollering for its approval.

With this lack of interest among area voters, however, the question arises: is a bored, indifferent electorate deserving of a decent, enlightened, and progressive court system providing equal justice for all?

It's apparent that Illinois does not have such a court system.

It never will until voters wake up to the realities of Illinois politics and its hold on our courts.

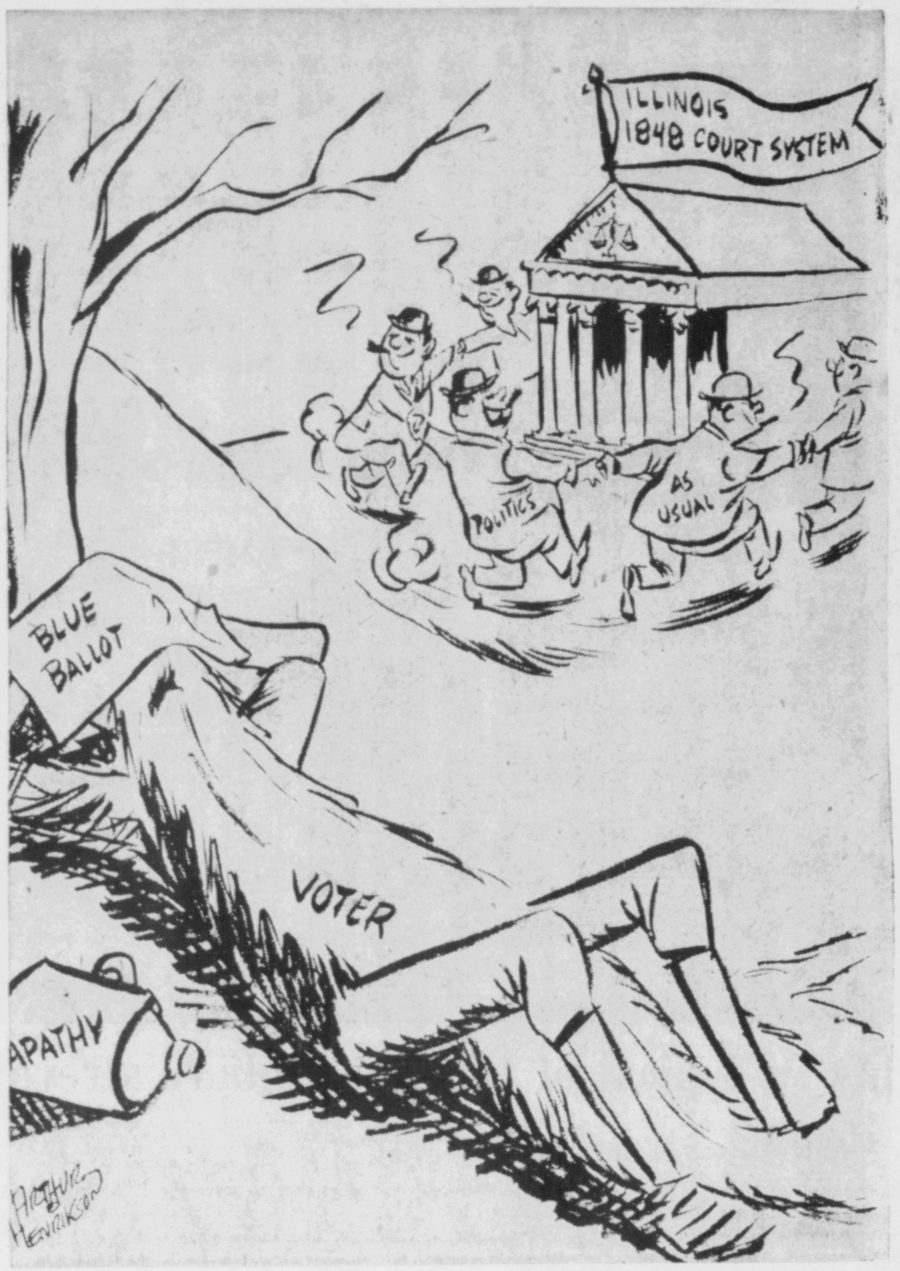
'Don't Wake the Old Boy Up!'



Jack Sipe's Column

Is the Race Track Worth the Annoyance?

Have you ever been trapped by endless race track traffic?

I have and, believe me, it's a real annoyance.

Just try to get onto Northwest highway when the track crowd is on its way home. Or, try to drive sanely up Northwest highway through Arlington Heights when the horse players are heading for the track.

I've wondered: "Is it worth it?"

THE REAL TEST of one's patience comes late in the afternoon when there's one or more trains in the Arlington Heights station. The train barriers are down and you're on the south side of the tracks, waiting to cross.

Finally the tracks clear and you speed across hoping to get through the light before it turns red. But what do you encounter? Two solid lanes of automobiles in bumper-to-bumper formation rolling merrily toward the city.

Sure, there are special police on duty and they do a great job. But they've got to move that traffic on down the highway or it'll be there all night. Well, eventually you get through, but you don't turn onto the highway. You go north in search of a side street to get away from it all.

ONE OF MY associates at the paper agreed to see how the Arlington Park Jockey club, as it calls itself, feels about the problems it causes neighboring communities.

Ben Lindheimer, executive director of the Arlington track, agreed there was a traffic problem but added:

"We're one of the few tracks in the country which is trying to do something about it. Other tracks don't consider the community at all."

Just what does Arlington Park do?

"Well, we've got a traffic center with a fulltime chief. He's equipped with a short-wave radio that stretches 4 miles in each direction. We also have a helicopter in the air during traffic saturation periods. Information is relayed constantly from point to point," Lindheimer explained.

THE BOSS OF the big track —which we all know is one of the largest in the country—is deeply concerned with the traffice issue.

"We've had a program for many years where extra police help is obtained during the race meeting," he said.

"Each year we introduce improvements in the traffic program and, after careful analysis, make spot changes wherever necessary."

The track's traffic department consists of a chief, Frank Kofron, who is a full-time employee of Arlington Park. He is aided by village police, county police, state police and a crew of 25 special guards who roam the big race course on little gas buggies.

The village, county and state cops, of course, are part time help. Lindheimer hires the village police on an extra-duty basis to handle traffic in their particular towns. These are Des Plaines, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Arlington Heights.

THE COUNTY and state police can't be paid directly. So Lindheimer makes healthy contributions to their pension programs.

In addition, the $80 to $90 million taxes paid by the Lindheimer tracks each year provide funds for various county and state uses.

Those guys on the little gas buggies scoot around the track looking for trouble. If they spot a motorist with a flat tire, they'll help him. Or, if they spot a flat tire and no motorist, they'll get busy and fix the flat. All intended, of course, to keep traffic moving.

Lindheimer has high hopes the traffic problem will be settled in two or three years.

"The tollway will be a great help. Then, if a solution is found in the Highway 53 rerouting that will help. Also, we'll keep making improvements in our traffic-control program."

I DON'T KNOW, at this stage, whether I'll ever fume again when that track traffic bothers me. It's quite clear they are conscious of the matter.

But my associate learned more and it showed that Arlington Park has a heart, too.

At the track, there's a program for permanent personnel and for those quartered there during the racing season. There's a recreation program, two swimming pools, television, a chapel, electric laundry, children's playgrounds and stone barbecue pits.

In fact, the three-page, single-spaced information sheet handed out by the track's publicity man, calls Arlington Park a "city within a city."

That it may be.

THE TRACK HAS its own fire department, its own hospital, its own water supply and own ambulances. Its police department is equipped with eight squad cars each with two-way radio. Also, there's a 24-hour switchboard that is connected to fire phones at each of the horse barns.

In times of emergency, Arlington Park has been called up to help fight fires in nearby villages and its water supply has been of value when pressure is low in an adjoining community.

Yes, I'm just about convinced Arlington Park is a great neighbor to have around.

The facilities of the 550-acre plant are made available during off-season months to many groups.

THE BIG 4-H Fair has been held there three years, Rolling Meadows uses the place for its Home and Garden show. There's a Little League baseball program, Palatine held its 100th anniversary there two years ago, and for 10 straight years the track's Post and Paddock Club has been the scene of the Chicago Boy's Club annual banquet and dance which raises between $30,000 and $40,000 for charity.

Lindheimer also points out that it's hard to estimate the amount of business that flows to merchants in nearby communities during the racing season. The track personnel, those quartered there who are running horses and others staying nearby to attend the races certainly do a lot of spending in various stores.

Just to clinch matters, the boss man at the track cited his contributions to national and local charities. The track is allowed to deduct five per cent of its earnings under the tax laws. And, since 1951, these gratuities have run from $30,000 a year to more than $50,000.

And, right at this very moment, Lindheimer and officials of the new Northwest Community hospital are huddling over a substantial donation.

Yes, guess I'll keep still and fume no more.

The discomfort, it seems, is minor compared to the track's worth as a good neighbor to suburbia.

Quotoons

The only time I like to see a person get mad is when he gets mad enough to do something really worthwhile.

The surest way to prevent an error from becoming a mistake is to admit it.

It often happens that the sharp fellow turns out to behis own butcher.

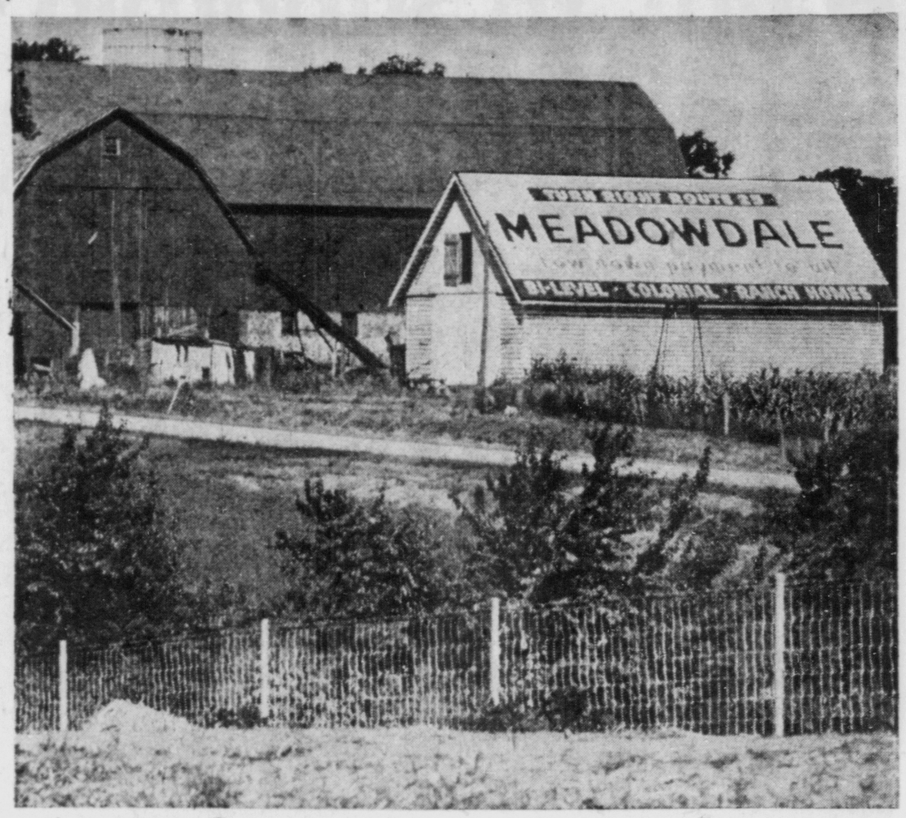
The most popular actors on The most popular actors on—the world's stage are those who just try to be themselves.

A good executive is a man who is afraid to make a mistake, but makes a few anyway.

All a brief case does for some men is make them walk faster.

The best way to be right or wrong is humbly.

The Realities of Cook County Politics...



MOTORISTS ON THE NEW Northwest Tollway are confronted with these two "billboards" facing the tollroad near the route 25 interchange. The signs were painted on the sides of these farm buildings last week. Every other state, every Illinois county except Cook county, ban billboards within 300 ft. of toll road right of way. Cook county officials thus far have declined to take such action, opening the way for Suburbia to be unique in the U. S. in permitting billboard "spectaculars" along tollways in north and northwest Cook county. Motorists offended by the gaudy signs can be reassured at the Kane county line—no billboards after Cook county.

Culture Cargo Arrives In Chicago Via Seaway

One of the world's largest and most valuable collections of ethnological specimens, including some 6,500 objects representing the cultures of peoples of many groups of islands in the Pacific, arrived in Chicago this week from Great Britian via the Atlantic-Great Lakes Seaway.

The shipment is for Chicago Natural History Museum, and represents the museum's first important use of the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes route for direct transatlantic shipments.

THE 71 CRATES containing the Pacific island artifacts, weighing some 15 tons, were loaded aboard the S.S. "Rutenfjell" of the Fjell-Oranje Lines at London docks for the voyage down the Thames to the sea, across the Atlantic, and through the seaway to be unloaded at Chicago's Calumet Harbor. The avoidance of transshipment by rail or truck from an East Coast port affords extra protection from damage or loss of the priceless treasures, museum authorities point out, as many of the thousands of objects are extremely fragile.

The S.S. "Rutenfjell," a Norwegian ship, is under the command of Capt. Hagbert Olsen.

The Pacific collection, destined to repose permanently at Chicago Natural History Museum, was assembled over a period of more than 60 years by a British collector, Capt. A. W. F. Fuller, and his wife, Estelle Winifred Fuller, of London, in collaboration with Capt. Fuller's father, Rev. A. Fuller.

HOUSED FOR YEARS in the Fullers' London home, the collection has generally been conceded by anthropologists and art dealers to be the world's finest collection of its kind remaining, until now, in private hands, according to Roland W. Force, the museum's curator of Oceanic archaeology and ethnology. Force recently returned to his post at the museum from the second of two journeys to London to negotiate for the collection.

So noteworthy is the collection that there have been numerous competitive bids from other museums the world over. However, since Capt. and Mrs. Fuller were interested in having the collection preserved for posterity in the institution with the finest and most modern facilities for its exhibition and for use in scientific research, the list ultimately was narrowed down to Chicago Natural History Museum.

Curator Force spent nearly six months in London in daily consultation with Capt. Fuller, recording on tapes significant data about nearly every one of the 6,500 specimens. This documentation was, of course, available only from the collectors themselves. The information is being transcribed in writing, and will fill a shelf of volumes when completed.

PURCHASE OF THE collection for the museum was made possible by a group of Chicagoans who contributed to a special fund established for the purpose. The museum's board of trustees, under the leadership of Stanley Field, president, and Dr. Clifford C. Gregg, museum director, have given especially notable support in raising the funds.

As a result of its own many expeditions, and acquisitions from other sources, the museum already possessed one of the world's finest Oceanic ethnological collections, Curator Force states. This was one of the determining factors in persuading Capt. and Mrs. Fuller that the Chicago institution was best qualified as a permanent depository. Acquisition of the Fuller collection will add immeasurably to the already outstanding Pacific collections of Chicago Natural History Museum, and assure the maintenance in this city of a collection second to none anywhere in the world. In particular, the museum has been strongest in its representation of Melanesia. The addition of the Fuller collection will fill gaps from the regions where the museum has been less comprehensive in its coverage, such as Polynesia, Force says. Many of the Fullers' specimens have historic interest, as for example, several attributed to the voyages of Capt. James Cook (1728-79), famed explorer and discoverer of many of the Pacific islands.

VIRTUALLY ALL OF the material in the collection is unobtainable from its original sources today, basically because of vast cultural changes in all of Oceania, in some cases the effects of World War II, Force says.

"The era in which such collections could be made is past," Curator Force states. "Capt. Fuller's was the last of the truly outstanding private collections—all the others have gone by sale, gift or bequest to institutions, or have been dispersed in miscellaneous sales."

Capt. Fuller has devoted most of his adult life to the assemblage and maintenance of the collection. It turned his home into a veritable private museum, and he personally documented every specimen with meticulous care. Very individualistic in his methods, his working hours for scholarship and research have for years been from noon to dawn; the mornings were reserved for sleep. While in daily consultation with him, Curator Force adapted himself to this schedule during his months in London.

Although the Fuller residence was badly damaged by Nazi V-bombs, the collection itself survived unscathed. Some of the more valuable parts of it had been stored in mines in Wales, along with the collections of the British Museum, during the war.

QUALIFIED AS A solicitor, Capt. Fuller engaged in the practice of law for only a short period. Except for an extended period of military service during World War I, he gave up most other interests to concentrate on his anthropological studies. For many years he served as a volunteer worker at the British Museum.

Included in the collection coming to Chicago are the contents of two entire British provincial museums which Capt. Fuller bought out — the Chichester Museum, and the Museum of th eIsle of Wight.

'WAY BACK WHEN'

50 Years Ago

August 28 1908

Miss Alice Higgins, our trusted typo and assistant news gatherer the past seven years, has been sick the past three weeks. Miss Della Scharringhausen, our second assistant, was away on her annual two weeks vacation and the editor being one of the 18 delegates from Illinois Press Association decided he would attend the National Editorial Association meeting at St. Paul Aug. 17 to 23. While most people are so busy they have little time to read hence we omitted an issue, but the rest and what we learned will enable us to make a better paper so our readers will be gainers.

Elk Grove — Martin Meyer was given a grand birthday surprise party Saturday evening, Aug. 22. He was just starting to the Heights when he heard music and singing down the road. While he was listening they drove into the yard and he certainly was completely surprised. They spent the evening dancing, playing games and feasting in his honor.

RELATIVES and friends from Chicago, Elk Grove, Wheeling, Arlington Heights and Palatine partook of the grand supper. The table was stacked with cakes and fruits. All had a jolly time and went home happy, wishing Martin's birthday would come every six months instead of once a year.

Christoph William Wildhagen was born in Germany in 1838. He came to America when 14 years old and settled with his parents in Palatine. In 1865 he was married to Miss Sophie Mahler and to them were born nine children, two of whom died in infancy. He died Aug. 18 aged 68 years.

—PALATINE — Misses Mary Hoffmeister and Delia Knigge drove Miss Mary's fast trotter to Lena, Ill., a distance of over a hundred miles.

The thoughtlessness of a number of young boys that usually make the railroad park their hangout evenings, nearly caused Willie Godknecht to lose an eye, Tuesday evening. He was struck just above the right eye by a piece of coal. Surgical treatment was necessary.

A little ten pounder arrived Sunday at the home of Frank Gahlbeck. He is a husky little man and has a voice on him that shows he is a natural born auctioneer.

September first, school will open and the "Old Bell" silent so long, will peal forth its joyous notes, calling together the boys and girls to resume their work, and as most of the teachers have been retained the work will continue with little loss of time.

The course of study in the grades is the same, but in the high school the Board has supplied a long felt want in adopting a Commercial course. The corps of teachers are as follows: M. L. Smyser, principal; Miss Kellogg, high school assistant; Miss McGuire, fourth room; Miss Bottom, second room; Miss Stevers, primary.

Palatine — The Board of Education are to be highly commended for the progressiveness they have shown this year in making so many needed improvements in and around the school grounds. Both the interior of the school house and the surrounding play grounds should be artisticly pleasing to the eye and attractive to the active boy, so as to instill in him a desire for school life.

Base ball enthusiasm is at its height in Palatine since Sunday's game when the local boys defeated the Cary nine.

Next time Roselle gets a game with you you better use your own nine and not be called cowards. — By a Roselle fan.

Many thanks to Mrs. Mors in extending to us the privilege of the grounds. The ice cream manufactured at Wheeling was excellent. We regretted the accident to Paul Tage, who while playing base ball dislocated his shoulder, but he was soon set right. The loads of singing people trailed home slowly long after dark.

PALATINE — Why are these bomb holes and trenches on Chicago ave., asked a stranger of the Tattler, Sunday afternoon as he was walking down Chicago ave. The stranger said that 9 years ago, he was a frequent visitor to Palatine and always boasted that this town had the best roads of any township or village in western Cook county. We tried to explain, but the string of epithets this man let loose about our roads, drowned us out.

The fact that Fire Prevention Day has been postponed to November 2 is not a sufficient reason for dropping those lighted matches in the waste basket in the meantime.

Night Clinics to Relieve Frenchmen's Toothaches

by BILL DILLINGHAM

Few things are more painful than a toothache at midnight. In addition to the agony, French patients report, there is the despair. One knows that no help is available until the next morning.

To change this painful state of affairs, a chain of clinics are being established in major French cities that will serve the public at night only. From 10 p.m. until six a.m. the doors are open.

THE IDEA STARTED in Lille where a woman dentist decided to adjust her professional life to her marriage. Her husband, a gendarme, had night duty and she complained that life was too solitary for one who was married. This woman quickly discovered that there was a substantial demand for the dentist who is willing to work at night.

Public hospitals in France do not take too seriously an emergency case involving a man with a tooth cavity. The patient gets an aspirin and a pat on the back with a nod toward the door. With the bars and cafes closed he cannot kill the pain with alcohol. Red wine isn't strong enough, so he just watches the clock until 10 a.m. bearing up as best he can.

AN ARTICLE in a French dental periodical brought dentists in other cities to consider this relatively novel plan. Finally, a company began making arrangements for a chain of such offices.

Small town residents, however, will still have to bear out their aches until daytime. Most French cities are able to support no more than one or two such owl workers of the dental chair. Paris and Marseille have several each. But there just aren't enough toothaches in a small French town to pay a night-dentist's way.

Only 'Peculiar' Are Different

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Like water on the fire of inspiration and individuality is the ridicule of conventional people, and that includes almost all of us, cast upon the head of the individual who seeks to be different. And thus is quenched, more often then we know, the germ of hundreds of new ideas and concepts of living, new art and new literature.

Conventions, within limits, are right and good. The attitude that crime is evil and should be stopped by law; the laws that compel us to respect the rights of others; the laws which uphold mahogamy and forbids bigamy, infidility, theft, the sale of narcotics, all these things are right and good; but the opinion of the multitude that anyone who is different in any great extent from his fellowmen is a misfit, clown, or is eccentric and foolish is wrong.

ONE OF THE greatest misfits of his generation was Jesus Christ, who drove the money changers out of the temple, dined with Pharasees, and let a sinful woman wash his feet with costly oils. He was spat upon, scorned, scourged and crucified because he was different; but today, we have our only hope of eternal life because he gave his life on the Cross in atonement for our sins. Because he dared to be different, we can be eternally saved, and should be sincerely grateful.

No man ever changed the course of history without being different, either in his capacity for individual thinking, his courage in taking calculated chances and character that refused to be intimidated by public opinion, or the warning, pleading or advice of well meaning, but short sighted friends, or in other, equally important ways.

IT TAKES a peculiar kind of person to be different. One who is not afraid of public opinion; who has the capacity for individual thinking, the courage for independent action; and the capacity for good judgment and understanding of human nature.

In every field of endeavor, the man who is different, who has these attributes, is the one whom industry needs and seeks; and he or she will be valued and in deor she will be valued and in demand according to the degree to which he has these attributes.

A TENDER LOVE STORY with the unusual theme of an interracial conflict, "Kings Go Forth," opened at the Elm theatre in Wauconda yesterday. Starring Frank Sinatra, Tony Curtis and Natalie Wood as the principals involved, the picture tells of two men who fall in love with a girl who is half negro. It is a warm, moving story of disappointment and romance.

Libertyville High Studies Alternates

The wrestling match over the future of pupil-packed Libertyville-Fremont high school is under way in earnest. This became apparent when high school board president Richard deHaan split the bulging, 60-page Citizens' Survey Committee report on LFHS into six parts and distributed them among the Board's committees.

Three alternatives are furnished by the survey report.

1. Stagger the teaching schedule whereby students would be taught in "double shifts," and or the school year divided into quarters. This proposal is tied in with a possible expansion of the present facilities of the school.
2. Create a branch of the school in the western (Mundelein-Fremont) portion of the district.
3. Divide the district in two, thereby creating two separate districts, each with its own school. (B-12

SUCCESSFUL HOMEMAKING

by LOIS SEILER Food Editor

Children Love These Special Recipes for Cakes, Cookies

FROSTING CUPCAKES takes heavy concentration by Mary McFarland and Susan McFarland of 1614 Johanna Terrace, Arlington Heights. Fans of food editor Lois Seiler, however, will find their mother's receipe isn't nearly as difficult a task. Mrs. Richard A. McFarland's secret for succulent cupcakes is shared this week with readers of "Successful Homemaking."

Children love the sponge cup cakes and chocolate cookies made by the two special recipes we are featuring today.

They have been shared with us by Mrs. Richard A. McFarland, who has made them often for her two daughters, Mary, 7, and Susan Ann, 4.

Not rich but delicately light in texture, these Hot Milk Sponge Cup Cakes are excellent to serve for a children's birthday party.

MRS. McFARLAND likes to frost them with a chocolate icing, (always appealing to children), and decorates the cup cakes with animal crackers, candies or candles.

Simple to prepare, you'll enjoy making these delicious cup cakes for your family. The recipe makes 18, and they will freeze well, too.

The Chocolate Drop Cookies are a delightful cake-like cookie which appeals to adults as well as children. Sour milk in the batter gives them as especially good flavor and texture.

Mrs. McFarland frosts the cookies with a powdered sugar icing and dips them in coconut. They are attractive in appearance and taste just as good as they look!

The McFarlands live at 1614 Johanna Terrace in Arlington Heights. Mrs. McFarland is very active in the Arlington Heights Nurses' club, teaches Sunday school at the Presbyterian church and is a member of the PTA.

Hot Milk Sponge Cup Cakes

2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup scalded milk
1 tablespoon butter

Beat eggs and sugar until thick and lemon-colored. Add vanilla and beat.

Add the flour, baking powder and salt which have been sifted together.

Put butter in hot milk to melt. Then pour over the batter and stir.

Pour batter into paper-lined cup cake tins. Bake 10 to 12 minutes in 350 degree oven.

Makes 18 cup cakes.

Chocolate Drop Cookies

1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons shortening
1 egg
1 cup sour milk
1 teaspoon soda
1½ cups all-purpose flour
Pinch of salt
4 tablespoons cocoa
½ teaspoon vanilla

Cream sugar and shortening. Beat in the egg.

Combine the sour milk and soda and add to the batter alternately with the sifted dry ingredients. Add vanilla. (More flour may be added to stiffen batter, if needed).

Just Around The Corner From Patty McArdle

Friends Forever, Thick or Thin?

Dear Peg:

One of the nicest things about seeing an old classmate once a year is the fact that she never seems to change—in fact she looks to me just the same as she did in college. Naturally, the logical and pleasant conclusion is that I must look the same to her (it's quite a shock to drive past the campus and see the "children" they're allowing to go to college these days).

Three days ago, the telephone rang and when I picked it up and said "Hello," a cheery, unmistakeable voice said, "Hi, Patty, this is Carol." Even though I knew from her note that she would be here any day to visit her sister for a couple of weeks, it was a thrill to hear her voice and we made a date to meet for lunch right then and there. Carol and I met when we were freshmen at Northwestern. Many and wonderful were the times and the talks (sometimes all night) we had together. And how happy we were when we pledged the same sorority and looked forward to sharing the fun and excitement of all our college years.

A few months after we were graduated, Bob and I were married and of course, Carol was a bridesmaid. For a while, Carol lived and worked in New York and it was there, in the East, that she met Bill, the young handsome doctor who was to be her husband. Bob and I drove to Birmingham, Michigan, so that I could be in her wedding. Although they lived in the East for several years, Bill and Carol wanted to live in California, so when the opportunity arose, they moved to Santa Barbara, where they now live with their three darling children.

Our luncheon was a riot. Carol had asked Connie and Peggy to join us. They also were Thetas and our first sorority "daughters." From the constant chatter and giggling, you'd have thought we were back in school. However, a little reminiscing and it was evident that the school years were far behind us. Each of us remembered some incidents or people that the others had forgotten. But, for that matter, I couldn't even remember who it was who only recently asked me to say "Hello" to Carol when I saw her and to say "Hello" from some fellow she used to know in high school!

It was fun hearing all about each others' activities. Carol is busy with the League of Women Voters, her cooperative nursery school, teaching Sunday school and, among many other things, taking tennis lessons so that she can play with her expert husband (we all agreed that he is probably overjoyed at the prospect of this).

Before we left, we planned to go to Connie's on Tuesday and to bring all the children. Peggy will have her three boys, Carol will have her three, I'll have my four and Connie's will make 13! The children will get to play on a real fire engine which Connie's husband, Joe, bought to entertain the children (and himself). We all will take our own food and will go home right after lunch. This will be the acid test—if we are all still friends when it is time to depart with our children, we will be friends forever, come what may, through thick or thin.

My love,
Patty.

Modern Etiquette

Q. When a woman drops some article on the street and a stranger picks it up for her, what should she say?

A. A pleasant "thank you," accompanied by a smile, is sufficient.

Q. Should the used silverware be gathered up before removing the plates from the dinner table?

A. No; the silver should be left on the plates, and all removed from the table together.

Q. When are "informals" properly used in correspondence?

A. The "informal" is a fold-over card, and may be used for any short note — for sending and replying to invitations, for enclosing with a gift, and so on. This type of card is not proper, however, as a letter of condolence.

Q. If a knife has not been used during a meal, should it be picked up at the end of the meal and placed with the fork across the plate so that it will be taken out when the plate is removed?

A. No; it should remain where it is on the table.

Conservation Acreage Payments Up 50 Per Cent

According to Ethel Granat, office manager of the Cook County ASC office, the average annual payment rate for land placed in the Conservation reserve in this county is $17.50 per acre. This compares with $11.00 rate last year. Individual farm rates will vary above and below this county average, depending upon the productivity of the farm.

Mrs. Granat advised that individual farm rates and the opportunity for farmers to get full information on this program will be available about September 2.

The Conservation Reserve program is the long range phase of th Soil Bank program and administrative officials expect there will be much greater interest shown in this program in 1959. The increase in rates will provide considerable attraction. The acreage reserve phase of the Soil Bank program is being discontinued after the 1958 crop year.

Under the Conservation Reserve program, cropland is contracted for a period of three, five or ten years and farmers have a choice of various types of protective cover to maintain on the reserve areas. A portion of the cost incurred in establishing adequate cover is paid in addition to the rental rate.

A ten per cent increase in the established farm rate will be available for farmers contracting all eligible land on the farm for five years or more. In addition, farmers will have the opportunity to offer their acreage at any rate below the established farm rate and, in this manner, compete for priority in the order in which applications will be accepted.

Gibberellic Acid Aids Gardeners

by JAMES FIZZELL

Many flower gardeners are asking questions about a new plant growth regulator known as gibberellic acid. Much excitement has been generated about this material by articles appearing in magazines throughout the country.

What is Gibberellic Acid? Gibberellic acid is a chemical produced by a fungus which attacks rice plants in the Orient. Plants infected with this fungus grew faster and taller, and also bloomed earlier than plants not affected. It was discovered that the chemical produced by the fungus if applied to healthy plants, those not infected by the fungus, would cause this unusual growth.

THE CHEMICAL is produced commercially by growing the fungus in a liquid culture medium from which the acid is extracted. This process is quite similar to the process used in making antibiotics such as penicillin.

Gibberellic acid is sold under various trade names, and in various concentrations of powder or liquid. The material is applied to plants as a spray or paste in dilute concentrations depending on the plant being treated. The commercial preparations usually have detailed instructions on preparing and applying the material.

THE USE of gibberellic acid on plants is still in the experimental stage. Some work has shown that the material is effective in increasing the size of the plants and flowers of many annual and perennial garden flowers. Dwarfism in some plants can be eliminated. Some house plants have responded well to applications of the material, and it has been effective in speeding the growth of slow-growing perennials and woody plants.

Plants vary considerably in their response to treatment with the acid. Usually, the stems elongate rapidly, and the plant takes on a lighter color than a plant not so treated. Plants seem to respond most readily to treatment when they are quite small. Treatment of seeds and bulbs has not been successful.

TREATING PLANTS with too high a concentration of the acid produces undesirable effects such as weak spindly growth and poor quality flowers. Small amounts of low concentrations seem to produce desirable effects on most plants.

Some plants which have responded favorably to treatment with gibberellic acid are African Violet, Ageratum, Geranium, Salvia and Snapdragon. Some woody plants which have given good response are roses, maples and spruces and tulip trees. (Fm

Down on the Farm

CARL F. MEES
with Your Farm Adviser

If you think your lawn needs novate. You should get part improving now is the time to reof the work out of the way in August so you can seed in September. The first step is to kill the weeds. Good herbicides will do this. Loosen the grass mat and remove excess. Apply fertilizer and seed. Water frequently until grass is established. Then water infrequently and heavily if a dry spell occurs. Complete instructions for lawn renovation can be found in the University of Illinois Circular, 729, "How to Have an Attractive Lawn." This circular is available free at my office.

THE YIELDS of the oat varieties on the Harold Bergman farm have been calculated. The yields of the varieties are: Burnett, 119.4 bushels per acre; Garry, 109.9; Fayette, 104.4; Newton, 99.6; Clinton, 98.9; Putnam, 94.8; Clarion 90.7; Clintland 83.2; Nemaha, 81.2; Minhafer 75 and Beedee 71.6. These yields are quite good. However, this growing season was very favorable to oats. Rust didn't affect the yield or standability. I would caution that these results, being from a one year test, should be weighed against past performances before any definite conclusions can be reached. Our thanks to Harold Bergman for his cooperation in this project.

TWO IMPORTANT programs are coming up for farmers next month at the college of agriculture. They are Dairy Day, September 4, and Agronomy Day, September 11. These programs will bring you up to date on the latest information in these two important fields of agriculture.

The Dairy program starts at 9 a.m., CDT at the Lincoln Avenue Dairy Barn. The Agronomy program starts at 9:30 a.m., CDT, at the agronomy farm south of the campus.

4 Economic Scholarships Available

Four scholarships of $200 to $250 are available to freshmen entering home economics this fall at the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

Preference for these scholarships will be given to farm girls or other girls who have been active in 4-H or FHA. In addition to leadership in these and other activities, awards will be made on the basis of high school grades and financial need.

If you ranked in the upper one-third of your graduating high school class and need financial assistance to enter college this fall, write immediately to C. D. Smith, assistant dean, college of agriculture, Urbana, for a scholarship application form.

These scholarships will provide as much as one-fifth of the total costs for one year of college.

Unheard of Sheep Business Nets Illinois $15 Million

by L. H. SIMERL

Uusually there is very little talk about the business of producing lambs and wool in Illinois. However, if you insist on bringing up the subject with our associate director of extension he might tell you that the sale of lambs, sheep and wool brings Illinois farmers some $15 million a year.

This amount is approximately equal to the income received from the sale of chickens, including broilers. It is about double the income received from the sale of apples and peaches combined.

The sheep business has had its share of ups and downs. But prices of lambs and wool have not swung so widely in recent years as have prices of hogs and beef cattle. And no big price swings are expected in the next few years.

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the sheep business in recent times was the decline in production that occurred after World War II. Before 1947 sheepmen produced enough lamb and mutton to provide everyone with around seven pounds per year. (If you did not eat your share someone else got that much more'.

Since 1949 the supply of lamb and mutton has been only about four pounds per person. Prices of lambs went up for a little while, reaching the high 30's in 1951. (In that year both lamb and beef were in short supply, and the Korean War demand boosted the value of lamb pelts into the stratosphere).

The scarcity and high price of lamb caused many consumers to almost forget about it. Many stores stopped handling it, and this took more consumers out of the market. In a relatively short time lamb was selling down in line with beef, even though the supply was much smaller than before.

Three years ago the supply of lamb and mutton was up to 4.6 pounds per person per year. Since then the supply has declined five per cent a year, until this year there is only about four pounds per person.

Sheep numbers are now increasing, and the supply of lamb chops may keep pace with population for awhile. At the beginning of this year farmers and ranchers had 27,390,000 head of stock sheep, according to USDA estimates. This number was up three per cent from a year before, but was not much different from the numbers reported each year from 1949 through 1955.

The 1958 lamb crop is estimated at 20,779,000 head. This is four per cent more than last year, and seven per cent more than the 10-year average. This increase is only moderate, and even it may be offset by the holding back of ewe lambs for breeding. The lamb crop in Texas, the major supplier of feeder lambs, is 14 per cent larger than last year, but still seven per cent smaller than the average.

Feeding lambs look like a good gamble this year. Feeder lambs may be cheaper than feeder cattle. Purchase of light lambs seems to offer the best odds. If purchased early they can make cheap gains on pastures or in cornfields. If purchased late there is a better chance for a rise in prices.

In 1958 production of shorn wool is estimated at 240 million pounds. This is two per cent more than last year but only four per cent more than the 10-year average.

The sheep business is being squeezed out of the west and is gaining in the corn belt and the east. This is shown by the wool production figures. Production of wool in the 13 western sheep states is two per cent less than the 10-year average, while the 35 "native" states produced 19 per cent more than their average.

Brown Dog Ticks Often Prove Household Problem

Brown dog ticks are often a household problem. And since these ticks are primarily domestic ticks, once they get indoors they usually set up permanent housekeeping.

Brown dog ticks enter houses several ways, but the most popular method is to come in aboard "Rover." Once indoors, they part company with their transportation and begin raising a family. This is quite a feat, for one female tick can deposit 1,000 to 3,000 eggs in cracks and crevices about the house.

These eggs hatch into six-legged seed ticks within 19 to 60 days. After feeding on Rover for awhile, the seed ticks molt into eight-legged nymphs. The nymphs also feed on Rover for several days, then drop off and change into adults. These brown dog ticks can only survive indoors, thus their livelihood depends on Rover or any other pets. Since ticks greatly lower the vitality of animals, Rover may need de-ticking and not a super-charged dose of vitamins if he starts dragging his paws.

These ticks do not bite humans, but are a nuisance anyway.

The name "Brown dog tick" doesn't mean that these ticks feed only on brown dogs. Instead, it is a descriptive term, for the male ticks are a uniformly reddish-brown without any white markings. Their body is flat and somewhat narrowed in front. The female is also reddish-brown and her abdomen, when distended, is gray-blue to olive.

The American dog tick, commonly called the wood tick, is often confused with the brown dog tick. But it is dark gray with conspicuous white markings. American dog ticks are primarily found in woods and meadows and seldom found in houses. Adults of this tick not only feed on animals, but on humans also.

For houses infested with brown dog ticks, several residual insecticides such as 2 per cent chlordane, 0.25 per cent lindane and 0.5 per cent dieldrin will give good control. If these materials do not give adequate control, use 1 to 2 per cent malathion. Pay particular attention to floor areas where the dog sleeps. Treating Rover each week with malathion dust or emulsion will also help eliminate ticks. (Fm

Phosphate in Wheat Row Efficient

Superphosphate drilled in the row with wheat is almost three times as efficient for increasing yields as the same material broadcast, according to Roger Bray, University of Illinois agronomist.

Results of the phosphate experiments were presented at the 51st annual meeting of the American Society of Agronomy at Purdue university.

These results compare superphosphate broadcast and then double-disked with superphosphate drilled directly with the wheat.

Besides determining the relative efficiency of the two methods, the experiments will make it possible to set up accurate tables showing how much soluble phosphate is required for soils having different phosphate tests. These values will be included in the Illinois soil-testing program to make the recommendations more concise and accurate in the future.

2 Guernsey Cows Complete Tests

E. B. Henslee, Arlington Heights, is the owner of two registered Guernseys that have recently completed official production records in the Advanced Registry division of the American Guernsey Cattle club.

Henslee Farms O Bride, a junior two year old, produced 13,095 pounds of milk and 589 pounds of fat in 365 days. She was milked twice daily.

Henslee Farms O Victoria, a junior two year old, produced 10,716 pounds of milk and 511 pounds of fat in 365 days. She was also milked twice daily.

These official production records were supervised by University of Illinois.

New Hybrid Corn At Agronomy Day

These new hybrids perform just as well as normal types when planted at the rate of 16,000 per acre. Alexander explains that the Illinois farmers usually grow 12,000 to 16,000 plants per acre.

When weather conditions are ideal, farmers are most likely to get the highest yields with high planting rates, Alexander points out. These new hybrids can be planted at high rates without fear that adverse weather will penalize yields. In years when weather is unfavorable, farmers can expect the high rate hybrids to yield as well as the conventional types planted at more normal rates.

However, the corn breeder cautions that with present harvesting methods, lower standability will probably discourage high rate planting. But if corn is combined or harvested with picker shellers early in the season and dried artificially, standing ability will be less important than it is now. Then we can expect that hybrids similar to the high rate hybrids now being tested will come into general use.

Some new hybrid corn bred especially for high rate planting will be on display at Agronomy Day at the University of Illinois Agronomy Farm September 11.

D. E. Alexander, university corn breeder, reports thse experimental high rate of 24,000 plants per acre.

The Hard Way

A little common-sense, day-to-day upkeep, and this tractor might have been out on North 40 doing the job.

Tractors don't need much pampering. They are built to take it. But the reasonable amount of care and maintenance they do require is a must. Take, for example, the day-to-day, common-sense type of upkeep any tractor owner can do for himself. Neglect here can reduce tractor life by as much as fifty per cent, according to a survey by Massey-Ferguson Service.

Observing the following pre-service maintenance precautions will go a long way toward prolonging the life of any tractor:

1. Change engine oil, transmission, and differential lubricants as prescribed in owners manual.
2. Change oil filter and service air cleaner at intervals recommended in owners manual.
3. Remove, clean, re-set spark plug gap at regular intervals.
4. Check battery for water once a week.
5. Follow instructions in owners manual. If manual is lost, get another copy from your dealer.

One more consideration to keep your tractor in good working order and at top efficiency: at least once a year, get a complete engine tune-up by your dealer's service expert.

Suburbia Struggles to Keep Pace; Student Populations Still Soaring

A record high enrollment of almost 250,000 students is expected in suburban Cook county public elementary and secondary school districts in September, says Noble J. Puffer, county school superintendent.

This would be a jump in one year of about 20,000 students, duplicating last year's 20,000 increase over the enrollment of 210,605 in the fall of 1956.

Suburbia, struggling to keep pace with its soaring student population, spent more than $83 million in the last two years for new school facilities. The huge expenditure includes $50,566,900 for new schools and additions to be opened for the first time after Labor Day. The stepped-up construction program in two years has added 1,634 classrooms plus other facilities such as gymnasiums and auditoriums.

THE ERA'S high birth rate and continued migration of Chicago families to the suburbs are the chief factors contributing to the student enrollment "explosion," according to Puffer.

His office estimates an elementary school enrollment this term of 182,057. This would be an increase of 13,565 pupils or 8 per cent over last fall's registration of 168,492, and a jump of 25,704 or 16 per cent over the 156,353 enrolled two years ago.

Puffer estimates the high school enrollment will increase 4,630 to 66,843. This would be 9.5 per cent over last year's 62,213, and an increase of 12,591 or 23 per cent over two years ago.

Combined, the estimated elementary and secondary enrollment is 248,900 when suburban schools open in the week following Labor Day, most of them on September 2.

IN TWO YEARS, 101 of the 128 suburban elementary school districts have added 1,039 classrooms at a cost of $34,643,500. This includes $20,138,500 for 593 new classrooms in 56 districts in the last 12 months. The money spent in the 2-year period also provided 33 multi-purpose rooms, 29 gymnasiums, 16 libraries, 12 cafeterias, 9 auditoriums, and miscellaneous other rooms.

The new construction, Puffer reports, will reduce the number of classes on double session to 112 in seven elementary districts, compared with 18 classes in 16 districts attending school a half day during last year.

Also, the number of rented or sub-standard rooms in use will be reduced from 103 in 27 districts to 91 in 20 districts, says Puffer. He estimates nine districts will have 62 "arge" classes, those with more than 40 pupils.

THE HIGH SCHOOL picture is much brighter in that no half day sessions, oversize classes, or rented and substandard rooms are expected, Puffer says.

But, he adds, it won't be long before these problems afflict the high school districts—by 1962 in many cases. The biggest factor in increased secondary school enrollment is the movement of high school age children from the city to the suburbs, according to his office. Next year the high post-war birth rate is expected to move into an equal footing in swelling high school enrollment.

In the last two years, 25 of the 26 high school districts have added 595 classrooms and other facilities at a total cost of $48,660,400. This includes $30,428,400 for three new high schools and 12 additions opening for full use this term. The 15 districts for this year added 399 classrooms, six gymnasiums, three swimming pools, two libraries, and miscellaneous other rooms.

By 1962, high school enrollment is expected to double this year's registration, Puffer predicts. Starting next year, the impact of the high birth rate will begin to be felt in the freshman year.

This, combined with the increased elementary enrolment, will, in the following three years, double the high school enrollment each year "and we will then have by 1962 double our present high school enrollment," says Puffer. He adds:

"This means that some of the school districts, such as lack of problems faced by the elementary bonding power and half-day sessions, may plague our high school districts also, beginning somewhere about 1962 or perhaps earlier."

SUBURBAN SCHOOLS this fall will for the first time in several years have almost no teacher vacancies, Puffer reports. He accredits this to "excellent salary schedules adopted by the suburban area, the opportunities for graduate study and the cultural advantages of the metropolitan area."

What he terms the "vigorous recruiting policy" carried on by W. R. Etherton, assistant county superintendent, also is responsible for attracting more teachers here.

Northwest area schools have added 141 new classrooms in the last two years compared to a total of 1,039 new classrooms in north Cook county.

Here are the totals for area schools: Palatine No. 15, 27 rooms; Wheeling No. 21, 20 rooms; Prospect Heights No. 23, six rooms; Arlington Heights No. 25, 34 rooms; Mt. Prospect No. 57, 34 rooms; and Elk Grove No. 59, 20 rooms.

FROM A TOTAL of 595 new classrooms added by suburban Cook county high schools in the last two years, 72 are in the northwest area. Arlington high school district 214 added 65 and Palatine district 211 added seven.

Students in 20 elementary districts will attend classes in 91 rented or sub-standard classrooms. These classes are those held in libraries and gymnasiums converted usually by erecting partitions to separate classes. Rented classrooms are basement and Sunday school rooms in churches.

In northwest suburbs, Palatine No. 15, will have 10 such rooms this fall and Wheeling No. 21 will have one such room.

WILSON SCHOOL district, Arlington Heights, is one of nine suburban districts that will have "large" classes, those with more than 40 pupils, this fall. Wilson will have two such classes.

The seven school districts expected to have a total of 112 classes on half-day sessions this fall include Palatine No. 15 with 24 classes and Arlington Heights No. 25 with 12 classes. (B8

The end of summer vacation is usually marked by the din of the school bell for many of us! It means Junior is looking forward to the first day of school; Mary is bursting with pride because "she has come of age" . . . it's her first day in Junior High; and how grown-up Buster feels that he has made Senior High—until Jamie states that "no one has lived" until they experience that old feeling of heading back to college and the gang! To Mother and Dad, all this means only one thing . . . getting the kids outfitted and ready for that big moment in their lives—going back to school.

Children's clothing must be selected from a practical standpoint, because the wear and tear of everyday usage is terrific. The National Institute of Drycleaning states that it is just as important to consider dryclean ability of certain items in the child's wardrobe as it is in selecting an adult wardrobe.

"Will it give good service in wear? Will it dryclean?" are important questions in selecting coats and jackets. Many boy's jackets have a water repellent finish, which makes it important to ask, "Is it necessary to have this finish replaced when the jacket is drycleaned?" And this is a good question to ask when you select your child's rainwear too.

There is a wide variety of fabrics to select from when it comes to skirts, jumpers and trousers. It's a good idea to check the label for fabric information that will guide you in your selection — information on colorfastness, and if the fabric has been processed for shrinkage control. It has been found that some sweaters made from the new "miracle fibers" pill and ball-up in wear; some appear grayed after cleaning. (PH
